Rebels Mount Attack

SAM NEUA, Laos (AP) — Communist rebels were reported massing 27 miles north of here Thursday, and this royal army headquarters for Northern Laos prepared grimly for a last-ditch defence.

Army officers issued sub-machine-guns and ammunition to government workers and school teachers. A handful of paratroopers were moved into the thin outlying defences.

PROBING LINES
Communist advance units "are probing our lines only 18 miles away," said Brig-Gen. Amkha Soukhavong.

"They will attack within 10 days at the most."

The general said the Laos rebels and regulars from Communist North Viet Nam were gathering in the jungle-clad mountains.

Defence Secretary Phoumi Nosavan said, "It's classic warfare, not guerrilla tactics. We intend to hold Sam Neua at all costs."

Derailment Blocks Line

NORTH BAY, Ont. (UPI) — The Canadian National Railway track near here was still blocked last night as a result of a derailment of a freight train earlier in the day.

Surrender, Says Widow

'Like a Mother to Her Son'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The widow of a night watchman who died during a safe-cracking appeal Thursday for the hunted men to give themselves up.

"If they are afraid of the police they could come to me and it would be like a mother talking to her son," said Mrs. Milja Alto, 63. Her husband, Vaino Alto, was found dead—bound and gagged and suffering a head wound—near a wrecked safe Wednesday at a storage company here.

An autopsy showed he became sick with the head wound and was suffocated. Police, who first, said the death was murder, issued another appeal Thursday for the safe-crackers to surrender for what they called the "accidental killing" of Alto. Det. Supt. Ben Jelley said the watchman's injuries, although fatal, indicated the safe-crackers didn't want to cause him serious harm.

Mrs. Alto said in a newspaper appeal to the men sought: "I don't want a life for a life, but if you know religion, you know you must be punished for killing someone. If you step forward you could go to sleep nights and be like a free man."

Watchman Found Dead

PARIS (AP)—Presidents Eisenhower and de Gaulle Thursday night wound up two days of "very friendly" talks ranging from summit conference possibilities to the Algerian rebellion.

A communique on meeting of the American and French leaders was issued after President Eisenhower told his Western Allies that peace is assured if the West remains firm in principle, flexible in tactics and patriotically devoted to the North Atlantic alliance.

'BE NO WAR'

"Then there will be no war," Eisenhower said.

Although the communique said only that North Africa was discussed by the leaders, White House press secretary James Hagerty later disclosed they had taken up a new policy toward Algeria. Hagerty said de Gaulle is to disclose the policy after Eisenhower leaves France today for a Scottish holiday.

"It may be expected that Gen. de Gaulle will make a statement on this subject," Hagerty told reporters.

He would give no date and added "it would be inappropriate for us to make any comment until de Gaulle has made his statement."

Informal sources said the French president would make his announcement on the Algerian rebellion before the Sept. 15 opening of the UN General Assembly in New York.

These same sources indicated de Gaulle would outline a new approach.

QUESTIONS PARIED
Hagerty parried all questions concerning details.

Asked if the United States would have something to say after de Gaulle makes his public disclosure, Hagerty replied "Yes."

Eisenhower and de Gaulle agreed that a summit conference would be useful in principle, but said one should be held "only when there is some possibility of definite accomplishment."

Their communique said they were in complete agreement on the question of Berlin.

DISARMAMENT TALKS

It also said they reaffirmed the importance they attach to the resumption of negotiations on general and controlled disarmament and to the problem of assistance to underdeveloped areas.

Another subject discussed was de Gaulle's desire to give France a place equal to that of the United States and Britain in dealing with world strategy.

India Prepares 'Peaceful' Bid To Oust Reds

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The Indian army Thursday night was reported preparing a bid for the "peaceful" reoccupation of a northeast frontier outpost seized by Chinese Communist soldiers late last month.

Indian troops were said to be moving to forward areas of the Northeast Frontier Agency, where the now-Chinese-held Longju outpost was set up by India in April.

REOCCUPY LONGJU

Informal sources said the Indian force was under orders to try to reoccupy Longju without the use of arms and to open fire only in self-defence.

The Assam Rifles militia detachment, driven from Longju by Communist gunfire, has established a new forward post two days' march south of the lost one, and is in contact with the next nearest post of Limeking.

Reconnaissance of the area was reported being carried out in preparation for the move. The area is one of the most desolate on the Northeast Frontier.

PROTEST REJECTED

Meanwhile official sources said India has rejected a Peking government protest charging that Indian border guards trespassed on Chinese territory near Longju and opened fire on Chinese patrols.

Also, the sources said India would not raise the border problem in the United Nations. They were commenting on a reported statement by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld that the world organization would try to help settle the dispute if called on to do so.

CALCUTTA (CP) — The Indian army was called on to restore order Thursday after Communist mobs surged throughout the riot-ridden, strike-bound Calcutta area, attacking police stations and patrol squads with guns, bombs and knives.

Ten or more persons were killed, bringing the death toll this week to at least 19. More than 170 persons were injured, many of them policemen.

OTTAWA (CP)—Communist China's troublesome activities on the Indian frontier and its aggression in Tibet may have simplified Canada's position on admitting the country to the United Nations.

The UN General Assembly opens in New York Sept. 15. India announced a few weeks ago it would seek discussion of Red China's admission.

DELICATE PROBLEMS

This would pose some delicate problems in international relations for Canada.

The nefarious behavior of the Chinese Communists lately, however, might cause a change in India's decision. Should India decide not to press the matter of China's UN membership, Canada's problem would disappear.

Arms Ban Talks On Again?

LONDON (AP)—The Big Four were reported Thursday night near full agreement on reviving negotiations to halt the East-West arms race.

Diplomats said an accord is emerging that will create a new 10-power disarmament conference to consist of five Allied powers and five Communist members. Canada will be included.

'Surprising Response'

Last of PGE Bonds May Go This Week

VANCOUVER (CP) — The government-guaranteed Pacific Great Eastern Railway $10,000,000 bond issue may be oversubscribed by the end of the week. It was reported in investment circles here Thursday.

"The sale has been going extremely well," said A. G. Osborne, chairman of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

Diefenbaker Talks Bluntly to U.S.

CHICAGO (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker Thursday reminded United States businessmen that Canadians expect the business policies of U.S. subsidiaries to be based on Canadian considerations and to be in the best interests of the Canadian economy and people.

His outspoken reminder was given in an address to a joint luncheon meeting of the Chicago Rotary Club and Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

CANADA DAY

The prime minister is here for Canada Day at the Pan-American Games.

"Canadians welcome the investment of American dollars in industrial and resources development in Canada," he said, "but it must be underlined that Canadians ask that subsidiaries conduct themselves in the best interests of Canada first."

BEST INTEREST

Canadians expected that the business policy of every company operating in Canada, be it owned or controlled by Canadians or Americans or overseas, would be based on Canadian considerations and be in the best interest of the Canadian economy and people, he said.

In an airport interview he reiterated Canadian opposition to Chicago's plan to divert additional water from Lake

Michigan into its sewage system.

The U.S. Senate reversed itself Wednesday and held up passage of the Chicago Diversion Bill for consideration by its foreign relations committee.

He said it isn't necessary that Canadian subsidiaries confine their operations to the Canadian market alone, and deliberately leave the world export markets free to their parent organizations.

OFFER STOCK

American subsidiaries operating in Canada "would do well to give careful consideration to offering Canadians the opportunity to participate in the equity growth of their community by selling a reasonable proportion of their common stock through the Canadian market."

As an example of the "Canadian considerations" on which management decisions should be based he mentioned that "if the degree of processing of Canadian materials before export can be increased, this should be done."

Arrests Today?

Police Recover Stolen Vaccine

MONTREAL (CP) — Police, acting on an anonymous telephone call, Thursday recovered the $50,000 worth of anti-polio Salk vaccine stolen by three hooded men Monday night from a University of Montreal laboratory.

The vaccine was found in an unfurnished apartment.

There were no immediate arrests but police said arrests are expected by today.

ICE IN SINK

Half the stolen vaccine—10,000 vials in all—was found in a refrigerator. The rest was found in cartons, different from those in which the vials were packed when stolen.

There had been clumsy attempts to keep the vaccine cool. Two blocks of ice were found melting in a sink. The refrigerator contained, besides some vaccine, a dozen bottles of beer.

BEING TESTED

The vaccine has been returned to the institute and is to be tested to see if it has deteriorated.

There was some speculation that the thieves had found the vaccine too "hot" to sell on the international black market.

Anti-Rackets Labor Bill Passes Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Thursday night passed a compromise bill aimed at ending racketeering in labor unions. The vote was 95 to 2.

The compromise was sent to the House of Representatives which plans to act on it today. President Eisenhower is considered certain to sign the bill—the first major labor legislation in 12 years.

Its main provisions seek to safeguard the rights of union members and protect union treasuries from misuse by unscrupulous labor leaders.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

MARVILLE, France—It takes hard work to keep Canada's air force ready for action.

The men in charge of the jet squadrons based here and at three other stations have more to worry about than a civilian could imagine.

They must concern themselves with details like sweeping the runways and taxi paths clear of stones, and about melting some flesh from over-plump stomachs.

The stones? They are cleared away with a giant vacuum brush. Anything lying around can cause havoc if it is sucked into a jet engine.

The stomachs? The food is so good that in spite of a liberal program of sport, some people gain weight. Orders have gone out that officers and men are to pare themselves down to the standard weight for their age and height, or explain why they can't.

Realistic Pretense

Every now and then a group of flyers is taken for a long ride into the country, turned loose and told to pretend that they have bailed out in enemy territory, and must find their way home without being caught. If they can dodge capture for three days they are considered to have been successful.

French police and soldiers, co-operating in the exercise, hunt them down ruthlessly. If they catch the fugitives they put them through tough questioning in an attempt to extract information.

"They can do anything but make a physical attack on us," a jet pilot said. "They can make us stand up in the mud with no clothes on, in a cold wind. They can put a bucket over a man's head and beat it with sticks. They can use all the tricks an enemy would use.

"This is taken so seriously that a man who cracks under questioning is in danger of being sent home."

A phrase you often hear among the men of the RCAF is "They don't fool around." It's true. And it applies just as much to the survival and escape exercises as to the alarms that send scores of jet fighters whining into the sky within minutes at any sign of hostile aircraft crossing the West German border.

Reaction Automatic

Once a year each squadron packs its bags and moves to Sardinia for several weeks' practice air firing with live ammunition. The rest of the time, pilots blaze away at each other and at targets with camera guns.

By ceaseless drill, in the air and in an elaborate flight simulator on the ground, flyers learn to react with hair-trigger speed to many different sorts of trouble. There is no time to think what to do. It has to be automatic.

"I ran into a crow about three months ago, coming in at 350 knots," a Sabre pilot told me. "The crow went into my intake. The compressor stalled. I was afraid I was going to have to bail out. But I sorted it out, and got it started again.

"Don't write that as anything wonderful. It's what we have to do. You learn how to cope with emergencies on the ground before you're in the air. J. T. Price—he's with the Golden Hawks aerobatic team—hit a seagull, smashed his canopy, knocked him unconscious.

"But he had the aircraft trimmed up, and the wing man talked him in... Canada has been training aircrew for 20 years, since the Commonwealth air training plan got under way. If we can't do it by now, it's nothing to brag about."

Help Police To Fight Hoodlums

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover lashed out yesterday at Americans who stand idly by while hoodlums "prowl the streets" and turn parts of the U.S. into a "no man's land" of violence and terror.

Writing in the FBI law enforcement bulletin, he urged private citizens to do all they could to help the "small patrol" of law officers trying to cope with an army of "depraved murderers, robbers, sex offenders and kidnappers."

'Panic and Anger Rush Fast In Wake of Fear'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Demands for the police to get tough toward juvenile crime came under fire yesterday from many quarters.

The New York Civil Liberties Union denounced statements made by Msgr. Joseph A. McCaffrey, who officiated Wednesday for a 16-year-old victim of gang violence.

The priest said that police "should be allowed to fight force with force—the only language the juvenile criminals who are taking over the city understand."

"SHOULD KNOW BETTER" George E. Rundquist, executive director of the civil liberties group, said Msgr. McCaffrey "should know better" than to take such a stand.

"The use of force does not result in the lessening of crime," said Rundquist. "It is the function of the police to maintain law and order. It is up to the courts to fix the punishment to fit the crime."

Rundquist said that if police were told to get tough, it would result in a tendency for a patrolman to "slap a guy around" even though he might not be violating the law.

"MUST BE PRESERVED" Mayor Robert Wagner, asked if he favored a tougher policy by police, replied that "law and order must be preserved in the city." He denied charges by a city magistrate who said that pampering of juvenile delinquents by city agencies was to blame for the violence.

The Lower East Side Neighborhood Association said it was firmly opposed to the use of force.

"Even in our grief we are cautious of the panicky people that are suddenly jumping up in anger all around us. We all know from experience that panic and anger rush fast into the wake of fear."

Montana Quake Affected Wells In Hawaii

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The earthquake which shook the country around West Yellowstone, Mont., Aug. 18 sent water levels up and down in wells as far as 3,200 miles away, the interior department reports.

The quake caused wells in Hawaii to rise or fall from one-quarter to three-quarters of an inch, the department said. Automatic water-stage recorders operated by the department's geological survey showed increases up to seven inches in other states, including New Jersey, Idaho and Florida.

MONTREAL (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said Thursday a "revitalized" CCF will serve the interests of both labor and the farmers.

He told a seminar of the National Federation of Canadian University Students the CCF feels able to serve both farmer and labor "because they have both been exploited by the same interests."

The 70-year-old Saskatchewan school teacher said no date has yet been set for the much-discussed link with the Canadian Labor Congress.

BACK FROM INDIA

Mr. Coldwell, defeated in the last federal election in his riding of Rosetown-Biggan, Sask., recently returned from a United Nations mission in India.

He said India's great poverty can be fought by a program of long-term, low-interest loans from Canada and other highly-developed countries. India was not asking for charity.

The West is making a mistake in spending money on arms rather than in aiding the under-developed countries, he said.

"If poverty is allowed to prevail there, it will mean the eventual end of democracy in India."

'Coddling' to Blame

Magistrate Attacks Handling of Gangs

NEW YORK (UPI)—A city magistrate, confronted by two sneering teenagers at their arraignment for homicide, charged yesterday that coddling of young hoodlums was to blame for New York's wave of teen terrorism.

Magistrate David Malbin included his fellow judges in his attack on city officials, police and youth agencies for failing to stem the tide of juvenile violence that has brought four deaths within a week.

Meanwhile, Mayor Robert Wagner conferred with aides to map plans for a drive against lawlessness. So did Governor Nelson Rockefeller.

MASTER LIST

The police department was drawing up a master list of more than 100 "fighting" gangs, including girl "auxiliaries." The membership of the gangs was said to run into the thousands.

At police headquarters Agron, named as the actual killer, was asked how he felt.

World Leaders In Front Line Of Nuclear War

EDMONTON (UPI)—Nobel prize winner Dr. Linus Pauling believes there will not be a third world war and that the last nuclear bomb test was fired last Nov. 4.

Dr. Pauling, who won the Nobel prize for his work in chemistry, pointed out here that leaders as well as the common people would be in the front lines in a nuclear war.

He is convinced that no one, either in the eastern or western worlds, wants to risk the extinction of half the world's people which would come if nuclear warfare were unleashed.

DOOM IN STORE

Testing of nuclear bombs by Soviet Russia, the United States and the United Kingdom now total 180 megatons of energy, equivalent to 180-million tons of TNT, Dr. Pauling told a crowd of 2,000 at a public meeting sponsored by the Edmonton Committee for the Control of Radiation Hazards.

The radiation and fallout from these bombs is sufficient to result in the death of 1,500,000 people, he added. The results would appear in bone cancer and mental defects. Thousands have already been so affected, Dr. Pauling said. The effect of fallout will continue for another 10 years ... the death incidence for generations.

The use of bomb shelters for protection and civil defence efforts are a waste of time and money, the scientist said. Such efforts might protect a few thousand people he added, but the only logical objective of mankind should be to prevent further bomb testing and certainly to avoid an international war.

Trapped on High Seas

Dog Without a Country

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI)—Customs officials said Thursday that unless someone was willing to pay $125, Bingo, a dog without a country, would spend the rest of his life on the high seas.

Bingo used to be an Australian but his natural canine curiosity got him into trouble. The trouble will continue when the Dutch ship Johan van Oldenbarnevelt arrives here Sept. 30.

The black-and-white dog boarded the Dutch ship when it was docked in Sydney harbor. After sniffing around, the mongrel started down the gangplank, but it was blocked by customs officials.

They had not seen Bingo go aboard and were taking no chances. Any dog landing in Sydney must be quarantined for six months at a kennel cost of $126, the customs men told the captain of the Dutch ship.

The captain was unable to convince the customs men that Bingo was not a Dutch dog, but an Australian one, and Bingo had to stay aboard. No one was willing to pay the quarantine fee.

When Bingo arrives here, British law will require a six-month quarantine, at a cost of $125, and again no one has come forward with the cash.

Winter Work Program

THE action of the Dominion government in doubling the size of the winter work program to be shared with the municipalities and in making its plans known early enough in the season will be appreciated in civic circles throughout the country. Prime Minister Diefenbaker has announced that $15,000,000 will be made available this winter to match authorized municipal work projects on a dollar-for-dollar basis. That compares with $7,500,000 allocated at Ottawa last year for the same purpose. It will be needed. This early declaration that the assistance is to be continued and stepped up also will be of material help to the municipalities.

With eight months of the year gone by, it is apparent now that British Columbia municipalities will need to get down to business soon in planning their winter projects. Where these are carried out under the federal aid scheme half of the cost will be recoverable by the centres concerned. While last winter the plan was in force, its operation remained of a minor character; partly because it had been announced too late, and partly perhaps because civic boards were not fully apprised of what the need would be in taking care of unemployment. By acting now the Dominion has cleared the way for a good deal more co-ordination in the working out of the assistance scheme and more practical benefits from its application.

The winter scheme will go into operation on December 1 and will be open to municipal participation for the next five months. This is the period which coincides with seasonal shrinkage in normal employment, and the plan is designed primarily to give assistance in every community where during the colder months that creates a problem. In addition there is still the latent effect of the industrial recession of last year and some unpredictable factors in the present one. Through a conjunction of unfavorable circumstances, British Columbia may have a stiffer unemployment problem to meet this winter than in the previous year; particularly in the main centres of population. The federal scheme should be of considerable help.

What one would like to see now, before the problem of winter idleness becomes more urgent, is a broader move towards integration of what can be done under federal, provincial, municipal and other auspices. It can be taken for granted that there will be a material volume of unemployment to meet at least comparable to last winter if indeed it is not more intensified. The municipal works plan can at best take care of small isolated groupings of men temporarily out of work. Beyond that may be the serious loss of work by many skilled tradesmen due to the normal seasonal shutdown plus this year's unusual factors. A working estimate of the case load itself would be a useful guide to the volume of special work which may be needed.

Not in Perspective

CIVIC argument over what the royal visit "cost" this community is not only ungracious but also much out of focus. In plain terms the recent royal tour, quite apart from the pleasure it gave to countless numbers in the community for the occasion, left a handsome balance in the terms of increased business following on the influx of a heavy proportion of visitors and all of the ramifications of trade such an occasion engenders.

On another count, the city council would be well advised to re-examine its current approach to the issue. Not too much can be done about civic response to a program that is over, or to outlays made at the time and presumably deemed necessary. Insofar as Victoria is concerned, it can write its adventure with an illuminated address down to experience. It was not a thrilling idea anyway, and no doubt trunks would not hold the number of such addresses offered during the course of the recent Canadian tour. If on some counts the City exceeded its special allocation for the occasion, just what can be done about that now?

Victoria may have a point in connection with emergency repairs to the Beacon Hill parade ground. The approach to the park and its development from this standpoint had been urged by the City on the capital commission previously. If in the event some urgent work had to be done at the site and it fell to Victoria to do it, then this work certainly could be considered as necessary on the part of the capital community. The City's plea in this instance has some merit, and the provincial government should consider it.

Royal visits are rare enough to be valued for their intrinsic appeal and genuine public interest. The city council might be surprised to learn that a considerable body of public opinion took the view that the capital city of the province did too little and not too much to prepare for an occasion which in all likelihood will not come again for a long while. Fewer scrolls and handshakes and more decoration on the streets would have been welcome.

Respect for the Courts

IT is good to see that Magistrate Beevor-Potts in Nanaimo is continuing to "crack down" on slovenly appearance in his court and on sloppy, dishevelled youths who seem to think that a court of law is no different from a street corner. Some time ago Mr. Beevor-Potts drew cries of delight from all over the country when he ordered an astonished youth out of court, in custody, to have his hair cut before standing trial. This week the magistrate did it again. Another youth with hair flopping untidily over one eye was instructed to have it cut before appearing for sentence.

The sullen, defiant attitude of undisciplined boys and young men might undergo improvement if there were more magistrates like Mr. Beevor-Potts. The respect required of those who appear before the courts is not for the magistrates and judges as men—but for the institution which they represent. If those appointed to dispense justice permitted disrespect towards the institution of the court itself, by word, demeanor or personal appearance, there soon would be little respect for the laws they administer.

The first time Magistrate Beevor-Potts ordered tontorial attention for a messy-looking young hoodlum certain left-wing politicians, old and experienced enough to know better, indulged in a tirade of rebuke for what they described as interference with individual rights. It is to be hoped that there will be none of that kind of maudlin nonsense this time.

Peaceful, but Armed

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE Red Chinese dragon in molesting, harassing and snipping at the Indian lamb, may find itself grappling with a tiger.

A high Commonwealth source, in appraising the situation, says India is in a good military and geographic position to defend itself against any invasion from China. He described India's military forces as small but in top shape.

More important perhaps is that India's Prime Minister Nehru, essentially a man of peace, has finally become aroused.

Latest reports are that he may shake up his cabinet to replace the controversial V. K. Krishna Menon in the vital defence portfolio. Menon is more of a diplomat than a military man and he has shown no great love for the West.

Now at this crucial stage in India-China tensions he has clashed with his three military service chiefs over such things as promotions of junior officers and other administrative issues. And on the eve of this reported shake-up, India's ambassador to the United States, M. C. Chagla, has proclaimed that India's frontiers are sacred "and we will defend them with all the power and resources that we possess."

With the undoubted approval of Nehru, Chagla told the National Press Club in Washington: "China will be making a terrible mistake if she thinks that because we are pledged to peace, we will not fight in defence of our country."

This was a much stronger and more positive statement than the one Nehru originally made to parliament after the Red Chinese penetrated India's northern frontiers. At that time he said: "We hope this will be settled by discussions and conferences, and we do not propose to go to war."

Some observers now see in these remarks that Nehru was speaking softly while preparing the big stick. Still to be seen is just how far he will go.

The British Scene...

by Giles

As nearly everything we do is an offence, says Giles, I have always thought that the one way to keep out of trouble was to stand still. "People always think that," said a magistrate this week. "But the law states that you have only the right to walk up and down, not to stand there." So now you know.

Thinking Aloud

Ike's Triumphant Tour

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

PICTURES and stories tell us that Ike and Monty made up at that dinner in London. Reports don't record they kissed each other's cheek, French fashion, but apparently they buried the hatchets; below the table and not in each other's back.

In the larger scale of events to which Eisenhower is dedicated on his current mission to Europe there is a minor rupture in any case, merely a tiff between old comrades in arms. But even men of prominence share a habit common to us all; they have the same touch of vanity in their makeup and don't like to be mentioned unfavorably in print.

Newsweek forecast that Monty would eat humble pie but that is doubtful; the probability is they shared equally in the same pie and let bygones disappear.

Khrushchev will have his share of vanity also and it should be appraised by the star treatment awaiting him across the line. More newsmen are seeking accreditation to cover his visit than ever before in connection with a visiting celebrity. If the Soviet chief goes back knowing little more about the real America than he did before he came, the people of the U.S.A. are certain to know much more about him.

Canada will share in this knowledge too and undoubtedly every TV set in the land will be tuned in when Khrushchev goes on the air. It is a pity he does not speak English, or his listeners Russian, for half the essence of the man may be lost through the medium of an interpreter. He shan't be able to complain about "indifference," however.

The Soviet leader is scheduled to visit the farm of a Mid-West corn grower. I believe, and I'm wondering if his reaction will be the same as that of Aneurin Bevan, at this moment in Russia. The British labor politician, himself the owner of a farm, asked a Ukrainian farmer about the average annual yield from each of the 11,000 cows where he worked. It was 750 gallons. "Not bad, but not good," commented Bevan, "slightly under my farm's average."

Mr. Khrushchev may be able to count more corn cobs than the Mid-West farmer and be equally bluntness saying so. The opposite kind of comment from a visitor might win more friends, however; one takes more kindly to another person if one feels slightly superior, with cows, corn or anything else.

A note in the sports pages informed me this week that Yorkshire had won the English county cricket championship, nosing out that favorite club of mine, Surrey. The story might have been different had the bat of May, the Surrey and England crick, not been laid aside for so long through illness, but "ifs" are part of cricket as they are of lacrosse, hockey and life itself.

As I remarked some weeks ago when pondering the possibility of Surrey's dethronement I don't know whether to be glad or sorry. It is for the good of any game that one club doesn't monopolize things too long. Yorkshire is traditionally a big gun itself, however, and I'd have preferred some lesser light to cop the honors.

A thought to keep you going for a few days, Dorothy Thompson's thought:

"They have not wanted Peace at all; they have wanted to be spared war—as though the absence of war was the same as peace."

Adventure in Personal Diplomacy

By MARQUIS CHILDS, from London

IN his extraordinarily triumphant tour of Europe, President Eisenhower is proving that the glow of the Eisenhower symbol—the leader-hero who liberated Europe—has the old power to evoke the warmest kind of response in the hearts of millions of Europeans.

No one who saw and heard the crowds that greeted him in the soft summer dusk as he drove from London Airport can doubt the nature of that response.

Shortly before he set out on this adventure in personal diplomacy he said he believed that the Eisenhower name still meant something and he intended to put it to the test on a round of world travel. Just what his goal may be in evoking the old emotional atmosphere is far from clear at this point.

Yet, it is possible to see at least some tentative objectives. First, no matter what assurances he may have given Chancellor Adenauer in Bonn about the "lost territories" and a divided Germany, Eisenhower gives every indication of believing that the status quo must be accepted. In his German press conference he skillfully avoided being drawn into discussion of boundaries and territories.

Second, he has accepted, given the nature of nuclear holocaust, the inevitable necessity of working toward peaceful co-existence in his remaining months in the White House. Both in public and in private he reacts strongly to any suggestion that nuclear war will come sooner or later. What good does it do, he said, to talk about that since it only means the destruction of everything.

Third, and perhaps most important of all, he is hopefully bidding for co-operation from Nikita Khrushchev. This is conspicuous in the decision announced by the State Department over the opposition of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Pentagon to continue the suspension of nuclear testing at least through the current year. That decision has been warmly welcomed in England where fallout and nuclear testing are a hot political issue in the election that is likely for October or early November.

The State Department announcement keeps alive the negotiations for a control system to cover a prohibition on all forms of nuclear testing. This question—with the number of on-site inspections to be permitted—will certainly come into the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks in Washington.

Bidding for co-operation, the president has said he expects Khrushchev to bring some new offer on it, which would justify a summit conference even before he goes to Moscow on a return visit.

Interestingly enough, this is a more optimistic view than British officials take in private. They are inclined to believe that no agreement on a summit will be reached until after the exchange of visits and the time they suggest is next January or February. This is contrary to the view advanced in the Conservative press to the effect that Prime Minister Macmillan is pressing hard for a summit during the current conversations in order to overcome Eisenhower reluctance.

Whatever the goals may be and no matter how formidable the obstacles in the way of reaching them, it is hard to avoid being caught up in the current of emotionalism Eisenhower is generating. For one thing, this emotionalism fits so well into the present mood of Europe and particularly Britain.

For so long the tensions of the cold war and the gnawing, numbing realization that forces of inconceivable destruction had taken the power of decision out of the hands of the peoples of crowded Europe have been like a black cloud shutting off even a glimpse of the horizon of the future. There seemed to be in the faces of the friendly, cheering crowd massed along the way from London Airport and in the London streets and squares something like a sense of relief.

This phenomenon—the waving, smiling Eisenhower—has come at the end of a summer of exceptional warmth and sun. It has come as a kind of extra beneficence, and as these people stood in the long, shimmering twilight in Cromwell Road, at Grosvenor Gate, in Wigmore Street, in Portman Square, massed so close that often the procession had difficulty getting through, they waved and smiled and cheered as though a new era had already begun.

If fighting in a distant place called Laos or Communist intransigence so familiar from the past is going to get in the way, these people do not, at the moment at any rate, want to hear about it. And this goes, one suspects, for the outwardly confident and smiling American who is leading the procession with all his old flair for the popular response.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE irritation we all experience on coming to a large highway project, maybe 10 miles long, is hard to beat. Here we have planned our trip on the basis that we would sail along, mile after mile, hundred mile after hundred mile of smooth pavement, at 50, 60, 70 miles an hour. And all of a sudden we come to warning signs: "Construction ahead." And if we don't have to detour around 10 concessions-of-back road, at a meagre 20 miles an hour, with plentiful ruts, pitch holes and other shocks, we have to wobble and wobble over 10 miles of rough gravel piled in heaps and lumps, and dust clouds enough to suffocate us.

But this irritation is secondary. It is capped by more irate frame of mind when we see no evidence whatever of work being done. It seems to me that in 40 years of mauling I have never seen road construction gangs actually at work. There are the tools, the great bulldozers, the graders, the trucks. But they are all standing deserted in the sunlight.

What a curious sensation it is, then, to come back over a remembered highway a month, a year or two years later, and find the most beautiful four-lane highway curving gloriously across the countryside, as if it had been there forever, as if nobody had ever worked on it, as if it just grew.

Is it by stealth that our beautiful highways are built?

No Bargain Basement

(From The Toronto Daily Star)

FROM Dr. W. P. Percival, former deputy minister of education for Quebec, come some exceptionally timely and commonsense views about the role of education in Canadian society.

Dr. Percival is no doctrinaire theorist. He does not hold with the view that equality of educational opportunity will produce equal results in a classroom of pupils.

"We know," he says, "that on this North American continent we have about 7 per cent of people who are ultra clever and about the same proportion at the other end of the scale. We know that only about 30 per cent of our people have IQs of the minimum required to perform work of good college grade. This leaves no less than 70 per cent who do not have that ability."

It is clear from what Dr. Percival says that he believes egalitarianism in the socialist sense is just plain nonsense so far as education is concerned. And he is right.

A large proportion of Canada's educational resources are wasted in futile attempts to force higher education on many who are quite unsuited by nature to benefit from it. Indeed, as Dr. Percival points out, many of mankind's truly great had neither the opportunity nor the attitude for learning in their schooldays. But later they turned out to be men of genius.

Trouble is, as this eminent Canadian educator points out, that people have been led to expect far too much of education, have been dazzled by talk about high IQs, and have wholly ignored the fact that a successful life depends on other qualities as well. Among other quotients noted by Dr. Percival are the EQ, or emotional quotient, the AQ, or attitude quotient, the MQ, or moral quotient, and the SQ, or commonsense quotient.

Academic brilliance undoubtedly has its place in the scheme of things. But a stable, progressive society also needs people who are emotionally stable morally sound, with a realistic attitude towards life and possessed of sound commonsense.

To expect the school to assume exclusive responsibility for instilling and developing such qualities in the nation's youth is sheer nonsense. Parents, religious leaders, and leaders in public life have an enormous responsibility as well to teach, by instruction and example.

Unhappily, in the realm of politics, false economic values are oftentimes set up, which when accepted by the nation at large, can lead only to disillusionment and disaster.

Taxes Never Temporary

(From The Windsor Star)

ONCE a tax is levied, it is pretty certain to stay there. No matter how great the promise, may be that the impost is temporary, a tax is seldom removed.

Senator Harold Connolly of Halifax has referred to the imposition of income taxation in Canada in 1917. When that method of taking money from the people was first introduced in this country, it was done reluctantly and only because of the war emergency.

That was 42 years ago and income tax is still with the Canadian people. In fact, it has been going up and up. Beware of new taxes. They may be described as temporary, but they always become so permanent.

Who Planted Bomb That Killed Widow?

Seattle Detectives Tackle Baffling Case

SEATTLE (AP)—Death of a Seattle widow who bent over a brown paper sack in her front yard and was nearly blown to bits grew steadily more puzzling Thursday.

Police assigned 16 officers to the case, which they described as one of the most senseless killings here in years.

Who would want to do away with Mrs. Pearl Kongsle, 62? Was it a vengeance bombing or a juvenile prank which backfired?

Why were no fragments of any timing device found? Why did Mrs. Kongsle stand staring at the sack "for a long minute" before it exploded, as witnesses told?

Did three running teenage boys and an automobile speeding away without lights just before the blast have any connection with the slaying?

These were among the questions for which police sought answers.

DEAFENING ROAR

Mrs. Kongsle died moments after the bomb in the sack on her front porch blew up with a deafening roar at 8:45 p.m. Wednesday. One of her legs and a hand were blown off. Concussion crushed her internally.

The explosion slightly injured two women friends visiting the widow, shattered the front porch of Mrs. Kongsle's West Seattle duplex, broke windows in nearby homes of the well-to-do neighborhood and dug a foot-wide crater in the sidewalk.

CUT, BURNED

Mrs. Alberta Bowman, 62, who had just arrived with a pile for Mrs. Kongsle, was taken to hospital with leg cuts and shock. Mrs. Edith Friedman, another visitor, was singed about the face. They were standing on the front porch when the bomb went off.

Mrs. Bowman said she noticed the paper sack as she came up the walk and tried to pick it up. She found it too heavy and let go "as something rolled inside," then told Mrs. Kongsle about it.

... death on front walk

PEERED FOR MINUTE

The widow was killed when the sack exploded as she stood bent over peering at it for a minute or more, then started to pick it up.

Mrs. Kongsle had no known enemies, police said. She had completed sale of her home the night before and planned to leave in the middle of the month for New York to live with relatives.

Smallwood In Need Of Prayers

STE. ANNE DE BELLE-VUE, Que. (CP) — Joey Smallwood, New foundland's fiery premier, got special attention at the Anglican Church general synod.

Re. Rev. R. L. Seaborn, assistant bishop of New foundland, said the revised Common Book of Prayer does not contain a special prayer for the governor-general and lieutenant-governors. Instead it has a prayer for the prime minister and provincial premiers.

"I'm sure you'll agree the premier of my province especially needs one," he said.

Larder Raids At Monastery Lifetime Work

OTTAWA (UPI) — Daniel O'Connell was arrested yesterday while staging his 27th midnight raid in 12 years on the kitchen of the Dominican fathers' monastery here.

The 57-year-old Irishman, who had just been released after serving eight months for his 26th raid on the larder, was sentenced to one month in jail, "I was drinking," was the only explanation he could offer.

Police officials and the Dominican fathers don't know why O'Connell keeps returning to the monastery kitchen for midnight snacks.

Empire Loyalist 'Offensive'

Whatever He Shouted Got Him Fined £2

LONDON (AP) — Nicholas Gerald Humphrey Blenkey was fined £2 yesterday for using language likely to cause offence or annoyance to the crowd who watched President Eisenhower leave London Airport Wednesday.

A prosecution witness testified she heard Blenkey shout: "Harold Macmillan, why did you not combine to defeat the oppressor of Suez?"

WHAT HE SHOUTED

Blenkey denied shouting this. What he really shouted, he told the court, was: "Empire Loyalists, ask Harold Macmillan why he is letting the victors of Suez, Washington and Moscow combined to do us down at Yalta and later at the time of the Suez crisis."

Blenkey added: "I don't see how my remarks could offend or annoy President Eisenhower because they weren't addressed to him."

WHY OFFENDED?

"Is there any reason why a truly British crowd should be offended at my reminder of how Americans betrayed us at the time of Suez?"

Blenkey is a member of the League of Empire Loyalists, a small but vocal group which complains that the government is dismantling the British Empire.

Strathcona Park May Be Extended

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said yesterday his department is "looking into" the possibility of extending Strathcona Park but so far no decisions have been reached.

U.S. Students To Meet Castro

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Total of 190 U.S. college students will fly to Havana at the Cuban government's expense for a firsthand look at Fidel Castro's regime and an interview with the prime minister himself.

Severo Toranzo Montero, ousted army commander-in-chief, claimed from the school he was resuming his post and demanded the resignation of War Secretary Elbio Anaya.

Setting up of a rival "seat of command" brought the arrest of 14 generals and two colonels.

Toranzo learned during the day that he had strong support in his feud with the war minister from other garrisons which refused to recognize Toranzo's dismissal.

Toranzo apparently decided to act after his successor was sworn in and President Arturo Frondizi, who personally intervened to try to resolve the crisis, failed in his efforts.

Toranzo is a close friend of the president. Anaya warned that officers who refused to obey his orders would be punished to the full extent of the law.

Hive of activity these days is mammoth Candlestick Park at San Francisco where construction crews are preparing the Giants' new home for a possible world series date in early October. At the rate they are going, everything points towards a series berth for the Giants who opened a month-long final home stand at Seals Stadium yesterday.

Willie's Still Around And Giants Are Happy

When Willie McCovey joined San Francisco Giants and began taking major league pitching apart, there were doubters who scoffed and said "wait till he's been around the league a couple of times."

Well, McCovey's made the AMERICAN LEAGUE

trip, and the junior member of the firm of Willie, Willie and Willie is doing quite well, thank you. So well, in fact, that the Giants are giving the bird to his doubters while McCovey sparks them in their race for the National League pennant.

In the stretch drive with Los Angeles Dodgers, the 21-year-old first baseman has been one of the big factors in keeping the Giants out in front. He was at it again last night as the Giants stretched their lead to 2 1/2 games, beating Chicago Cubs, 5-3, while the Dodgers were losing, 5-3, to St. Louis Cardinals.

McCovey hit his 10th homer of the season off Dave Hiltman in the fifth inning to send the Giants ahead, 5-4, in their come-from-behind victory. The homer stretched McCovey's

Hatten Blanks Beavers But Bees Protect Lead

Veteran left-hander Joe Hatten turned in a brilliant five-hit 3-0 victory over Portland Beavers Thursday night as Vancouver Mounties remained one game behind first-place Salt Lake City in Pacific Coast Baseball League standings.

Hatten, at 41 the oldest regular Mountie, gained his eighth win against seven defeats when Vancouver broke a scoreless tie with two seventh-inning runs. Mounties added their final run in the eighth off loser Marty Kutyna. Salt Lake City protected its lead with a 5-0 win over Phoenix as Ed Bauta pitched six hitless innings in relief of starter Don Francis.

Pages Capture Baseball Title Hodges in Hero's Role Again

Pages are Senior Amateur Baseball League champions today, but mainly because playing-coach Lowell Hodges has a brother named Berlyn who does a fair bit of pitching when he's not playing first base.

Thursday night's 4-2 win at Royal Athletic Park gave Pages the best-of-five final 3-1 and it was Berlyn Hodges who played the leading role with a clutch relief performance. Hodges, who either started or finished every game, came on in the ninth inning to strike out the final two batters and preserve a win for Hal Jacobson.

Berlyn struck out Jim Moody before walking Gary Bishop to load the bases. He quickly dashed any hopes Eagles had of forcing a fifth game by striking out Barry Harvey to end the game and give Pages the Rithet Cup. Jacobson wouldn't have needed any help on most nights. He spaced five singles and struck out eight but found himself in trouble several times as Pages committed seven glaring errors.

As was the case in earlier games, Pages jumped to a quick lead and coasted to the win. An error, a walk, a fielder's choice and Lowell Hodges' single produced two first-inning runs.

Eagles cut the margin in half with a fifth-inning run, pitcher Stan Smith scoring on Gary Bishop's single, but Pages came back with singles in the sixth and seventh. Smith was a standout for Eagles, hitting two singles and going the distance although he gave up 13 singles. Pages, 200 000 000-4 3 2, had a 100 000 000-2 1 1. Hal Jacobson, Berlyn Hodges (9), and Kieran O'Neill, Stan Smith and Jim Moody.

Sharp Bomber Defensive Play Helps Humble B.C. Lions, 34-23

WINNIPEG — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, their alert defensive unit cashing in on two fumbles and four pass interceptions, downed B.C. Lions, 34-23, here last night to move into a tie with Calgary Stampeders for first place in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

As usual, it was the running of Charlie Shepard and the passing combination of Jim Van Pelt to Ernie Pitts that led the Bomber offence. But in a game where the Lions played almost on equal terms with the defending Grey Cup champions, it was the Bomber defence that made the difference and sent the Lions down to their third defeat in six starts.

Lions, beaten 42-20, in their previous meeting with the Bombers, trailed 7-0 last night with the game just three plays and 15 seconds old. They fumbled on their own nine yard line on the first play after taking the opening kickoff, and speedy Carver Shannon scored the touchdown, converted by Van Pelt, on the first Bomber offensive play.

Lions scrapped back and actually went ahead 10-7 within the next 10 minutes. While the Lions held the Bombers to minus-one yards rushing, Randy Duncan marched them to the Winnipeg one-yard line and Don Vicic plunged for a touchdown. Vic Kristopaitis kicked the convert, and minutes later booted a 42-yard field goal to send the Lions ahead.

However, it was a short-lived lead and the only one the Lions were to have. Bombers led, 14-10, at the end of the first quarter, 28-17 at the half, and 34-17 going into the final 15 minutes.

HAD CHANCES

Not that the Lions didn't have their chances. With the score, 14-10, Jim Wood fumbled after catching a pass from Duncan at the Bomber 15-yard line. Winnipeg recovered, and two plays later Leo Lewis took a touchdown pass from Van Pelt. It was the start of a bad night for Woods, who later dropped a pass in the Winnipeg end zone with no one near him and the score 34-17.

Pitts, the WIFU scoring leader, caught six out of seven passes from Van Pelt for 175 yards and got his seventh and eighth touchdowns of the year. On the one pass he dropped, he was 15 yards behind the Lion defensive unit at its best in the second half despite the loss of tackle Curt Fauke, who was thrown out late in the first half for slugging Herb Gray. Gar Warren, moved from linebacker to tackle, was a standout for the Bombers. He intercepted one pass, stopped Vicic on a third-down plunge deep in Bomber territory with one yard to go, and combined with guard Steve Patrick to make the majority of the Bomber tackles.

Statistically, the clubs were fairly even, with the Lions getting a 19-18 edge in first downs and a 225-188-yard margin rushing. Van Pelt, however, clicked on nine of 13 passes for 213 yards while the Lions, with Duncan doing most of the throwing, were good for only eight of 23 for 192 yards.

CAUGHT ALL FOUR

One of the standouts for the Lions was rookie Canadian end Bruce Claridge. Filling in for the injured Jerry Jones, he caught all four passes thrown to him.

After Lewis got his touchdown early in the second quarter to put Bombers ahead, 21-10, the Lions began to move along the ground. A sustained drive spearheaded by Fleming, Vereb and Bailey was capped by Bailey's 11-yard plunge for a touchdown.

Bombers got that back before the half ended, marching from their own eight-yard line. A 35-yard run by Shannon set up a Van Pelt touchdown pass to Pitts.

Warren intercepted a pass by Duncan and ran to the B.C. 51-yard line in the third quarter. On the first play from scrimmage, Van Pelt hit Pitts for another touchdown.

Duncan tried to get the Lions going through the air again, but Woods dropped his pass in the Winnipeg end zone. Minutes later, the Lions were back and Vicic had his second touchdown to make it 34-23.

Duncan really took to the air at that point, and again a drive was stopped at the Winnipeg 16-yard line when Gordie Rowland intercepted a pass.

In the final two minutes, Duncan clicked with Woods, passing from his own five-yard line for a play that covered 85 yards. His next pass was intercepted by Rowland, and Bombers ran out the clock.

NORM BAKER

... problem man

'Rocks' Power Play Working in Reverse

Norm Baker has two problems. If he solves one tonight, he can go a long way toward solving the other and brighten Victoria Shamrocks' chances in the Inter-City Lacrosse League final.

Shamrocks host New Westminster O'Keefe's tonight, trailing the defending champions, 2-1, in the best-of-seven series. Baker's problems are these:

First, the Shamrocks' power play is working so badly it's giving up goals instead of getting them. This is the big one, and a correct answer for it will help out with problem two, namely, why can't Shamrocks play well at Queen's Park Arena in New Westminster.

Lack of a power play has been one of the major reasons why Shamrocks have lost twice at New Westminster, 12-7 and 13-6. They won the second game of the series, 13-6, in Victoria, but even if they force the series to seven games by winning two more at home, they have to win once at New Westminster in order to win the series.

"I'm not making any changes," Baker said last night. "We scored once on the power play in New Westminster Tuesday, then the boys forgot how they did it. If they remember, we're going to be all right yet."

Baker thinks the matter of poor play at New Westminster lies in the fact that the Shamrocks dislike the smaller floor at Queen's Park Arena. But, he points out, they won two games out of five there during the regular season.

"If we get back that touch and win one there, we can win two here and take the series yet."

SILVER WINNER

Mrs. L. A. Bradley scored a net 82 Thursday to win the silver division of the Royal Colwood Golf Club's monthly medal competition. Bronze division winner was Mrs. S. G. Evans with a net 77. Mrs. F. Bliss was second with a net 78.

Several 'Ifs' For Series

Good number of large-sized salmon are being caught off Brothie Ledge these days, and this 39-pound spring displayed by Al McLeilan, 2878 Parkview, bears out the statement. McLeilan landed this beauty Wednesday night on a Minnow-Tearer, and it was weighed in at West Bay Marina. (Colonist photo.)

$8,019 Ticket Finally Cashed

MONTREAL (CP) — An $8,019 ticket was cashed at Blue Bonnets raceway Wednesday night by an unidentified man who picked five consecutive winners Sunday in a triple double pool.

No one appeared to claim the money after Sunday's card. But it was held for the winner.

CHICAGO (AP) — Unless a playoff is needed to select a league champion, the world series will start Wednesday, Sept. 30, in the American League pennant winner's park.

This and other preliminary details for the 1959 world championship were worked out at a meeting Thursday of both leagues. The meeting was called by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Because of the tight race in the National League there were a lot of "ifs" in the early stage planning. These included:

If the series involves Chicago or Cleveland, or San Francisco or Los Angeles, the first two games will be played in the Midwest. Oct. 2 would be a travel date. The next three games would be played Oct. 3, 4 and 5 in the National League park on the West Coast.

If the best-of-seven series should have to continue, the sixth and seventh games would be in the American League city Oct. 7 and 8.

If neither San Francisco nor Los Angeles take the pennant, no traveling days would be needed. The first game in the National League park, then, would be played Oct. 2.

If there should be ties for the pennant at the end of the regular season schedule, the contenders would play a best-of-three series to determine the league's entry in the world series.

If such a playoff should be needed, it would start Sept. 28. The world series would start the second day after completion of the playoff.

The starting time for each world series game will be 1 p.m. local time.

Sniper Wins First Gold Medal

CHICAGO (CP) — Gerry Ouellette won Canada's first gold medal at the Pan-American Games Thursday and led Canadian marksmen to the greatest-ever single-day haul of medals by a Canadian team in international competition.

The 25-year-old Ouellette, already a gold medalist marksman in Olympic competition, won his first-place medal

Thursday in the small bore 50-metre shooting from prone position.

Ouellette, design engineer from Deep River, Ont., also won a second-place silver in the small bore over-all three-position competition and a third-place bronze in the small bore 50-metre kneeling position.

Clark White, 30-year-old assessor from Toronto, picked up a bronze in small bore 50-metre from the prone position and the Canadian team placed third in the small bore 50-metre three-position match — another bronze.

Bob Wheaton of Victoria, holder of four Canadian backstroke records, placed fourth in the 100-metre backstroke final, won by Fran McKinley of the U.S., followed by two other Americans.

The marksmen, firing as they've never done before, thus shattered targets to reap a whopping harvest of one gold medal, one silver and three bronze — a feat never before equalled by a Canadian team.

Earlier, Garfield McMahon of Dartmouth, N.S., had captured a silver in the centrefire pistol event and Canadian teams won bronze medals in the English rifle match and the free pistol event.

Ouellette teamed up with the University of British Columbia four-oared crew to win Canada's only gold medals at the 1956 Olympic Games against the best in the world at Melbourne, Australia. No other Canadian has ever matched his performance.

Bob Bedford of Sherbrooke, Que., a member of Canada's Davis Cup team and seeded No. 8 in the games tournament, added another silver medal to Canada's total Thursday after a straight-set 6-4, 6-1, 6-3 loss to Luis Ayala of Chile in the final of the men's tennis singles.

In women's springboard diving, Canada's Irene MacDonald placed a disappointing fourth.

The auburn-haired Miss MacDonald, holder of two U.S. records, was in tears after her performance. She dropped to fourth place from second with a horrible second dive that wrecked any chances she may have had of winning her first gold medal in five cracks at international competition over a five-year period.

"THE OLD STORY"

"It's the same old story," she said. "I can beat any of these girls in any national competition, but when it comes to diving in international meets, I'm no good.

"I don't know what happened. I really thought I was going to win it. I'm sorry for the team and I'm ashamed."

She trailed Paula Pope of the United States by less than nine points after Tuesday's compulsory five dives and was given a chance by some experts of overcoming the 24-year-old black-haired, American in Thursday's final five dives.

But she blew her chances on a poor second dive, the back 1½ somersault layout. The water splashed onto the pool deck as she hit the water with the back of her legs.

"I made only a one-and-one quarter somersault," explained the fearful Miss MacDonald.

That flop enabled the other two Americans in the field to overtake the Canadian and give the U.S. a clean sweep of the medals.

Joel Dina Lenz of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., third after Tuesday's competition, took over second place and Barbara Du-deck of Detroit moved up a notch to third after her fourth-place standing earlier in the week.

TEARFUL MISS

"I'm not alibying," Miss MacDonald said. "But every girl in this competition but me had their coach with them. And that makes a difference. I really do think that one of the basic reasons I failed was that I didn't have a coach around until yesterday when Glenn McCormick of Los Angeles helped me out."

She is entered in today's lower diving and said she hasn't made a dive from that board in a week.

"I'm afraid to go up there, but I'll do it. I won't back out now."

Dirk-Cut Cake Marks 100 Scottish Years

With skirling pipes and swinging kilts more than 100 Scots lads and lassies gathered last night at Holyrood House to eat a dinner of Sassenach roast beef, boiled potatoes and Brussels sprouts.

The occasion was the 100th anniversary of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society in Victoria, fittingly observed by society president Charles Cameron, who used a dirk to cut the birthday cake.

Mayor Percy Scurrell brought official greetings from the city of Victoria. He was accompanied by Mrs. Scurrell.

To 70-year-old James Henderson (society president 1921-22) went the honor of recounting its history.

The society was originally formed in 1859 as the St. Andrew's Society, and by 1863 membership had grown to more than 100, including some of the most prominent and respected people in Victoria. Governor Sir James Douglas was the honorary president, and posts of honorary vice-president, were filled by Chief Justice Cameron and Chief Justice Begbie.

The society's objects were to give aid to needy countrymen and advice and assistance to newcomers. These aims remained unchanged when the society joined with the Caledonian Benevolent Association in 1870. The new society was named St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society.

The next two decades saw vigorous growth and acquisition by the society of property which became known as the Cook Street grounds, home of the Caledonian Games.

During the early years meetings were held in such places as the courthouse and on occasions in the police barracks. But members never gave up their dream of owning their own hall.

The dream came true in November, 1937, when Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross, present honorary president of the society officially opened Holyrood House.

"In closing," said Mr. Henderson, "I quote the words spoken by our honorary president, Mr. Ross on that happy occasion: "Tradition is the greatest thing we have outside our religion. All over the world you will meet Scots, representatives of your race and mine. We can say with all honesty that Scotland's greatest contribution has been her brains and her brawn."

Following the dinner, new officers for the coming year were installed.

They are: Charles Cameron, president; Thomas Hamilton and Mrs. J. Inglis, vice-presidents; Mrs. G. McKay, secretary; Mrs. M. Blades, financial secretary; Mrs. G. Dakers, treasurer; Jack Drom, warden; G. Gunnis, inner guard; S. Kennedy, outer guard.

The program was rounded out with Scottish songs by John Dunbar, dances by Lynn Williams and Arlene Atkinson.

IWA Decision On Proposals May Be Slow

A week or two may pass before British Columbia knows whether striking coast woodworkers will be ready to go back to work on the terms proposed by mediator Dr. John J. Deutsch.

Policy committee of the district council of the International Woodworkers of America will meet in Vancouver today to consider the mediator's report, proposing a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour this year and 10 cents an hour next year, and an additional increase of 10 cents an hour for all journeymen tradesmen.

MEMBERSHIP VOTE

The Deutsch proposals, with the policy committee's recommendations, then will be submitted to the 26,000 members for a vote. But arranging for balloting throughout the big district, with some locals in remote places, will take time. Joe Morris, district president, denied last night that he had said it would take 10 days. He said he didn't know how long it would take, but it would depend on the policy committee recommendations and "the availability of our people."

NO COMMENT

Meanwhile, he wouldn't comment on the Deutsch proposals. Operators' spokesman John Billings said the Deutsch report will be studied by member firms of Forest Industrial Relations, but he had "no idea" how long it would take. He said he had no further comment on the report at present.

Symphony Disavows New Bowl

Victoria Symphony Society has no plans to build an outdoor concert bowl, but would be willing to support a community drive to establish one, society president, Jack Barracough, said last night.

"We never did, as a society, consider building a bowl," he said. "We are not in that type of business, but we are prepared to provide entertainment in a bowl if it is built."

Juvenile Home Quiet

Everything has been "going beautifully" at Greater Victoria's juvenile detention home since it reopened two months ago, Ald. Lily Wilson said yesterday.

But, Mrs. Wilson said, the Coldharbour Road home still needs segregation facilities, to separate older, hoodlum types from other children held at the home.

SEGREGATION NEEDED

"As it happens, there haven't been any terribly unruly characters at the home since it reopened as far as I know," Ald. Wilson, chairman of the home committee, said. "But segregation is needed. It will just have to come."

The committee is preparing a submission on requirements for the Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee, and Ald. Wilson said a new home "may be necessary, but at this time I don't think it is. What is really necessary is a unified Greater Victoria juvenile court, and then I think the present home, with segregation, would be adequate for the time being."

SUBJECT OF CRITICISM

Lack of segregation and security facilities was subject of criticism by former superintendent Col. W. S. Dingley before he and his wife quit the job of running the home last spring.

The home committee reported in the spring that majority of juveniles brought to the home were of a "very unruly nature, destructive, and have no respect for others, furniture, or anything else."

But since the home reopened two months ago, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Ball in charge, the situation has been quiet, Ald. Wilson said.

Wasp, Where Is Thy Sting?

Uses Lethal Gas Gun

Ace Wasp Killer Gets 'Em on Wing

Anybody who thinks the aerial dogfight passed into the limbo of history with the Korean War hasn't talked to "ace" Victoria exterminator Bill Gair.

He shoots wasps on the wing, but instead of a 50 calibre Browning machine gun he uses a gun which squirts a lethal gas.

So far this year he has shot down around 18,000 wasps and has only been "wounded" himself twice.

Several times this season he has been outnumbered 100 to one but only once were the odds so high he considered running instead of shooting.

Mr. Gair has been a professional exterminator for 16 years and, like the mercenaries of old, he harbors a professional hatred for the enemy.

"Wasps sting worse than bees," he says, "but the hornet stings worst of all."

MORE HORNETS This year there are more hornets in the Victoria area than Mr. Gair has ever seen before, and the wasp population is as heavy as last year.

Several Victorians, notably children stung around the face, have been hospitalized with stings this year.

The exterminator says the best time to attack a hornet's or wasp's nest is at night when the occupants are relatively inactive.

Recently he went to inspect a nest in the daytime, however, and a clutch (or should it be a covey) of wasps zeroed in on him in spite of some fancy evasive tactics.

"Only one stung me. I squashed the other two against my head with my hand."

Asked if there was some secret way of squashing them in this manner, he laughed and said, "Oh, no, I was just lucky."

RAW ONION

When he does get stung he prefers to press a piece of raw onion against the wound.

"It kills the poison," he explains.

His strangest case of wasp-killing came after a call from an Esquimalt home where a swarm of wasps had suddenly taken up residence in the master bedroom.

Owners of the house couldn't go to bed so he rushed out and managed to kill the invaders with his gas gun in broad daylight.

THREE WEEKS

The wasp and hornet season should be over in Victoria in about three weeks, Mr. Gair said, unless warmer weather returns.

Male workers die off and the queen wasps go into a state of hibernation.

But nests which are not "de-activated" this year will be back in action next year.

During the intervening months Mr. Gair will be able to leave his raw onion at home... he will be busy exterminating rats, mice, roaches, bats and silverfish.

A runway improvement project and a southwest wind combined to make a shambles of Trans-Canada Air Lines Victoria-Mainland schedules here yesterday.

Only emergency use of four-engine Transcontinental aircraft permitted the airline to clear passenger congestion at Victoria International Airport.

Five twin-engine DC-3s were forced to return to Vancouver empty because restricted choice of runway and a southwest wind made it unsafe to operate them with passengers on board.

All Victoria-Vancouver and Victoria-Seattle passengers were finally delivered to their destinations through use of four-engine North Stars and a Super Constellation, an airline spokesman said.

REPORTING POSITION

Seattle-bound passengers were flown to Vancouver and either turned over to United Air Lines or placed aboard TCA planes which made a pretense of flying their licensed Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run by flying from Vancouver to Victoria and reporting their position over the Victoria radio range before proceeding to Seattle without landing here.

Stage was set Monday for yesterday's air transport confusion when the Department of Transport closed a secondary runway so that an improvement project on the main runway could proceed past an intersection.

RUNWAY 0220

This forced aircraft to use Runway 0220 which runs from southwest to northeast.

Twin-engine DC-3s are not permitted to take off into the southwest on Runway 0220 because the margin of safety over Mt. Newton, Mt. Finlayson and Mt. Jeffery, is inadequate in case of the failure of one engine.

DOWNWIND TAKE-OFFS

And TCA does not permit its pilots to make downwind take-offs with passengers on board.

By mid-afternoon yesterday the wind had swung to the southwest and DC-3 flights started to pile up, unable to take off.

A hurried call to Vancouver brought the promise of four-engine service by shortly after 6.15 p.m. to take away passengers.

12 Miles Of Beach Waiting

A 12-mile beach of shimmering sand lies like the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow for intrepid Vancouver Island motorists today with the opening of the 63-mile Alberni-Tofino road at 4 p.m.

The road will be open to the public from 5 p.m. to 7 a.m. on weekdays and around the clock on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

CAMPING GEAR

While there is some accommodation at Tofino and Ucluelet, visitors are urged to take camping gear with them unless they have made firm reservations.

There are no service stations along the road and motorists are warned to tank up with gas at each end.

But at the road's end lies Long Beach, considered the finest strand of sand along the British Columbia coast.

Old Times Recalled

$3,500,000 Plan Complete by May

Final phase of the excavation stage of the B.C. Electric's $3,500,000 underground wiring program for Victoria will resume Sept. 14 and be completed by May 4 next year.

A BCE official told the retail merchants group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday that excavating operations would be suspended Dec. 4 to Jan. 4 to accommodate heavy retail trade at that time of year.

Guy Barclay, general superintendent of the BCE electrical department here, said excavation work is approximately 70 per cent complete at the present time.

FIRST PHASE

First phase of the work after the Sept. 14 starting date will be at the intersections of Douglas and Herald and Douglas and Fisgard. Simultaneously a vault will be excavated at the northeast corner of Johnson and Government.

Second stage will see excavation along Douglas from Herald to Fisgard and along Broad Street from Pandora to Johnson, plus construction of manholes on Douglas midway between Cormorant and Fisgard and at Broad and Yates.

Third stage will mean digging up paving between Fisgard and Cormorant on Douglas.

las and between Johnson and Yates on Broad.

Work will then proceed from Douglas to Broad on Johnson.

Next sections will be on Johnson from the east to the west side of Douglas, on Douglas from Yates to View, on Broad for half a block north from View and on Yates from Broad to Government.

When this is in progress work will commence on Broad for a half block north on Yates, from the south to the north sides of Douglas at Yates, from Pandora to Cormorant on Government and from Herald half a block south on Government.

Next section will be from Fisgard half a block north on Government, and from Government some 60 feet east on Fisgard.

Yates will follow, from Douglas Street a half block west, and Government Street from Johnson to Pandora.

Work will then start along Government from View to Yates and from Fisgard to Cormorant.

Final pre-Christmas stage will be from Yates to Johnson on Government.

Scalded Baby Girl Doing 'Fairly Well'

A baby girl, who apparently pulled a kettle of boiling water down on herself yesterday, was reported in "fairly good" condition last night at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Elizabeth Hunt, 1½, of 1266 Johnson, suffered second degree burns in the accident, but was said to be "resting well" in hospital.

Baby Seal Found Romping In Empty Suite Bathtub

A baby seal found yesterday in a bathtub of a vacated suite at Rockland Lodge Apartments, 1249 Rockland, was given to the manager of Rudy's Pet Park on Durrance Road.

It is understood that the seal was found in the apartment of an immigrant who left Vancouver Island the night before. Caretaker Frank Colak, who found the young animal romping in the bathtub, was not available for comment.

Perplexed officials weren't too certain who should take the responsibility. The caretaker called city police, who sent a man to the apartment.

The provincial fish and game department called the federal fisheries department, who also sent a man to investigate.

Rudy Bauersachs, who runs the pet park on Durrance Road, solved the problem. He drove his car to town, picked up the seal and took it back to a pond near the park.

The seal, which is only a few months old, weighs 35 pounds and is about three feet long; started a hunger strike when it arrived at its new home.

The animal refused to eat any fish, said Mr. Bauersachs, who feared that it might die unless it changes its mind soon.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I never thought I'd wind up on your "couch" in print. But then I suppose they all say that!

I went with this perfectly beautiful girl four months. She was so magnificent that for three months I was mesmerized by her indescribable beauty.

I read her poems by Pound and Kunitz. She was a great listener. I bought her albums of Chopin and Brahms. She smiled her thanks. Then suddenly I saw the bare face of truth. What I had imagined was tranquility, depth and inner security, was only silence—born of ignorance.

When I tried to recall a single statement from this girl which reflected an original idea, I was stymied. She was a fraud.

I have three degrees, Ann, but this idiot-beauty who I'm sure never saw the 10th grade, duped me. Please pass the word along. It may save another idealist four months, and $1,000 in books, records, flowers and gifts. —VOLTAIRE.

Why Is She a Fraud?

Dear Voltaire: Why is the girl a fraud? Did she tell you she was on the faculty at Harvard?

You were so snowed by her looks that all your male impulses went on active duty and your brains went AWOL. You tried to build a dream castle and move this brainless female in. Your attempt to spin a shimmering cocoon of magic around a beautiful (but dumb) dame didn't work. It never does. So—take your medicine like a little man.

Dear Ann: Maybe if you publish this letter it will help my cause.

I got my driver's licence a few days ago. I passed the test with flying colors. Now my folks won't let me drive unless one of them is with me. I've been practicing for three years and I'm as good a driver as either of them. Yet they say I haven't had enough experience to take the car alone. How can I get experience if they won't let me have the car? If you can explain this I'll be grateful. —LIZ.

Dear Liz: Be patient, Lamb—your time will come. Drive whenever you get the chance. After a while they'll get used to the idea that you're a competent driver. Then you'll be permitted to take the car on your own. Nagging and begging is a sign of childishness, so lay off and you'll achieve your goal sooner.

Is Dad a Meal Ticket?

Dear Ann: Lately I've been reading articles entitled "Is Dad just a meal ticket?" "Are American wives pampered?" "Has the male lost his place as head of the American Family?"

I'd like to ask the following questions: "Is Mom just a housekeeper?" "Do American men have life too soft?" True, women don't have to work as hard as their grandmothers did, but neither do men. Today the 40-hour week is considered "too long." They want 35. The young man out of college who is looking for a job wants to know what the pension plan is before he'll consider it. Mom doesn't get any such deal. Being a wife and mother means 24-hours-a-day duty.

This marlarky about a woman being boss is a joke. I've yet to see a wife who could watch the TV program of her choice when a fight or a cowboy movie was on. If there's any pampering going on it's the men who are getting it. American husbands are the most spoiled males on the face of the earth. Mom starts it and the wife takes over from there. —SADIE.

A LOVELIER YOU

FASHION-FIGURE FORECAST. A preview of fall fashions leaves no doubt that many dresses will fit like paper on the wall. Full skirts occur in only a small percentage of dresses, and even then they are shaped.

Plainly, fashions will show little mercy on any figure problem come fall; least of all, on a heavy, flaccid abdomen. Under a snug skirt, the poucify tummy is the most unattractive of possible figure difficulties.

As four to six weeks is required to trim the abdomen, it behooves a needy damsel to begin at once. These routines are tailored to the purpose:

1. On back with knees bent and soles of feet on floor, press spine against floor and contract abdominal muscles; hold position for five slow counts. Then, without relaxing tummy muscles, slowly slide heels down floor until calves touch it. Repeat ten to twenty times.

2. On back, raise both legs perpendicular to floor and support hips with hands. Slowly swing legs apart, as far as possible; hold position for five counts and quickly bring legs together. Repeat five to ten times, being sure to tense the abdomen throughout.

To solve that riddle of extra inches around your middle, send today for my leaflet, Midriff Slimmers. It contains quick, easy reducing exercises for slimming diaphragm, waist and abdomen. Mirror, mirror on the wall, whose hat has the haberdasher look for fall? Answer? All three. Wearing samples of the new fall look, copied from the men, are Mrs. John Duncan, left, president of the Y., Menettes who are presenting a fall millinery show at the YMCA on Saturday, Sept. 19 at 2:30 p.m., Mrs. Donald Hawthorne, publicity, and Mrs. Leonard

Cannon, convener of the show which will be given by the T. Eaton Co. The hats are a stitched fedora brimmed grey and white and trimmed with cocoa grosgrain, a saucy grey derby with full veil and white and brown feather band and a Nile green beaver felt with orange feather.—(Colonist photo.)

Royal Pregnancy No Longer Hushed Up

Victoria Kept It Dark

LONDON (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth's pregnancy offers some revealing contrasts with what happened the last time the stork visited a reigning British monarch.

It was 102 years ago, in 1857, when Princess Beatrice was born to Queen Victoria, her ninth and last child. The Queen was then 48.

In Victorian times—when even pianos had "limbs" rather than "legs"—public mention of a pregnancy was in extremely bad taste and, when a Queen was involved, unthinkable.

INTERESTING CONDITION
The first intimation the public had that Victoria was "in an interesting condition"—as it used to be called—was an announcement in the London Times of Jan. 27, 1857:

"The Queen has intimated her intention not to open Parliament in person. The speech from the throne will therefore be delivered by the lords commissioners on Feb. 3."

From that date onwards, the court circular reproduced in The Times no longer mentioned the Queen's public engagements.

Then on April 14, 1857, came this announcement from Buckingham Palace:

"The Queen was safely delivered of a princess this afternoon at 45 minutes past one o'clock. Her Majesty and the infant princess are well."

Garden Notes

Fight That Mildew

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In our garden we never seem to have any particular trouble with the early peas. They crop their fool heads off, and we gorge ourselves on their luscious, fresh-picked flavor until we have peas coming out our ears.

The late pea crop, though, is a pup from a different litter, and the vines have a propensity for coming down with unholly doses of mildew. I think this is connected somehow with dryness at the roots, or possibly dry subsoil—the same condition which is causing blossom-end rot in tomatoes.

Deep irrigation and a heavy mulch over the roots of straw, lawn mowings or garden litter will help a lot in preventing an attack, but when mildew actually puts in an appearance, watering won't cure it, and it must be fought with fungicidal dusts or sprays.

On peas, I find that wettable sulphur applied as a light dust does a grand job of eradicating mildew, and unlike most dusts and sprays, it persists through several showers of rain.

Ordinary unwettable sulphur, applied as a dust, washes off easily. So does wettable sulphur mixed with water and put on as a spray, but the wettable stuff puffed on with a duster, or a plastic squeeze bottle simply goes into a paste when a protect comes along, and continues to protect the pea foliage.

This stunt works well with DDT too. When you find yourself doing battle with bugs, the wettable DDT applied in dust form is much longer-lasting than the five per cent dust or the wettable mixed with water.

Mildew is bad this year on gooseberries, too, and the best treatment is to cut out all weak and unwanted new growth, whether mildewed or not. The idea here is to improve the circulation of air through the bushes.

Ideally, gooseberries should be grown in the form of a little tree, with one single "trunk" arising from the roots and with the lowest branches several inches from the ground. If your bushes are growing from a "stool" instead, with suckers springing up from below the soil surface, these should all be cut out as well.

Burn all these prunings, or bury them a foot deep, after sprinkling them with hydrated lime, for if they come from an infected bush, they are sure to be contaminated by the spores, whether or not they show any visible symptoms. On no account put them on the compost heap, or in a pile to dry out, for spores will be released to blow all over your own and your neighbors' gardens.

When the pruning and thinning is completed, spray over the bushes with plain water to wet the foliage, and dust liberally while the leaves are still damp with a 50-50 mixture of potato dust and wettable sulphur, or if you wish, you can substitute rose dust, which already contains some sulphur.

Any berries not too badly affected with mildew may be eaten after washing them in water tinged a pale pink with a few crystals of permanganate of potash. It wouldn't be wise to use them for jam or preserves, though, as the whole batch might turn a bad color.

Rhymes and Reason

By John Crosby

Louis Untermeyer is a poet who looks and sounds like a staccato eagle and who thinks that poetry is the only hope of our beat-up generation. He's also the author of a book called "Lives of the Poets," brashly following in the footsteps of Samuel Johnson, whose best book had the same title and same wildly ambitious outlines.

Untermeyer is a veritable torrent of opinion on the subject of poetry, a topic that has not been exactly at the top of the hit parade for some years now, and the other day I asked him to say a few words on the subject—which is something like pulling your finger out of the dike in Holland.

"W. H. Auden, one of the greatest poets this century has produced," proclaimed Mr. Untermeyer, "once called this the Age of Anxiety, which I think is a brilliant term. This is the Age of Anxiety—politically, socially, culturally, and poetically. Poets and writers and musicians and sculptors reflect our terrific insecurity and so creators, instead of using our common language—the written word—try to get to the audience in a new and different way. Either yelling above the din that is going on—radio, television—or speaking so quietly hardly anyone hears them."

"Good poetry has sounded every level between the so-called high and lowbrows. There is a good deal in poetry for any reader. We quote more from Pope in our daily life than from anything else except the Bible and Shakespeare. Poetry is part of our life—commercially. Poetry was written for the vulgar; they sang it before it was printed as the beatnik poets do today."

What about the beatniks, Mr. Untermeyer was asked? "I think beatniks have this to say: 'We don't want your world, your values, or your morals. You'll go to church when you've stopped believing. We want a quick drink, a fast girl, and another motel. We want out.' This is all a gesture of defiance, a gesture of rebellion. They rebuke the older generation and that's good. But their philosophy is destructive because this is a destructive age we're living in. Disillusionment also is a serious fallout. Man is a talking animal and I'm all for the beatniks expressing themselves in prose or in poetry."

He sighed: "You wanted to know if I was going on television. I don't like television or radio. Poetry once had a large audience but it did not then have these large mechanical competitors—television, the UP, the newspapers. Why, once they used to read poetry at home, they even talked to each other at home, had conversations and everything. Before poetry comes back, conversation will have to come back."

"I don't know if this will happen. I hear classrooms now are equipped with television and soon everyone will be taught by television, thus eliminating the teacher who gave you personal contact. We will then definitely become a nation of observers."

Hollywood Today

By Sheila Graham

Bob, Bing on Road Again?

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Bob Hope and Bing Crosby are back to discussing "The Road to the Moon." With the moon being so fashionable these days, I'd like to see Bob and Bing stop talking about the movie and get on the road with it—with Dorothy Lamour, of course.

Sophia Loren, who used to complain of the older men who portray her lovers in pictures, is now insisting on men at least 40 years old. Her current movie love, Clark Gable, in "Bay of Naples," is nearing 60. But, Sophia insists, "our chemistry is right." Other older men in Sophia's film life have been Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra and Alan Ladd. The film she made with young Tony Perkins did not do well at the box office.

Anita Ekberg's soon to be finally divorced husband, Anthony Steel, is still hoping he can win her back. But, having talked with and seen Anita in Italy, I don't think Tony has much chance. Only how Tony hated to be called "Mr. Ekberg." And how he hated the overbearing males who pursued Anita.

Doris Day's 17-year-old son is half a head taller than his mother. Which is why you don't see too many photographs of them together. And now that most of the returns are in, on the movie version of "South Pacific," I repeat, what I said at the start: Miss Day should have played the role of Nellie Forbush. Or Mary Martin.

Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay are selling "The Hargitay Health Glow Method" in England. Pink Dumbbells for the ladies, blue for the boys. No dumbbells, they!

Star Raymond Massey has sold his home in Connecticut and will live permanently in California.

Nowadays it costs as much to publicize a picture as it does to make it. "Solomon and Sheba," starring Yul Brynner and Gina Lollobrigida, will be launched with a $2,000,000 advertising campaign. Kirk Douglas' "Spartacus" has $1,000,000 earmarked for publicity.

points as the cards will allow. In this hand, North and South did a fine job of it.

North's two no-trump bid was the "unusual no-trump" convention, asking his partner to bid his better minor suit. It was obvious to South that North could not have a normal two no-trump bid since he had passed originally.

When East bid four spades, South bid five diamonds fully expecting to be set. He realized that there was little or no chance to beat four spades, and five diamonds doubled should be less expensive than paying off to a vulnerable game.

Careful play of the hand proved South to be right. East made the mistake of grabbing the ace on the first lead of clubs, and declarer managed to lose only one trick in each suit for a penalty of 300 points. Four spades bid and made would have cost North-South at least twice as much.

And Deborah Kerr's clothes in "Beloved Infidel" have set back 20th Century-Fox and producer Jerry Wald $70,000. As you may know, Deborah portrays this reporter. It's nice to be so well dressed—even if it's only on the screen and on someone else.

Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn have a new career plan—they will not act together again—"causes too much tension," says Mel. And they'll not accept films that separate them—"that's bad for any marriage, even one as happy as ours." Audrey is happier since her doctor assured her that in spite of her serious back injury and recent loss of her expected baby she can have children. And this is her No. 1 desire.

'Failure of the Man' Boss Blames Blast Driver

ROSEBURG, Ore. — George Rutherford, driver of explosives-laden truck which exploded Aug. 7, killing 13 persons, has been blamed by his boss for the disaster.

Robert Clinton, superintendent of the Pacific Powder Company said the disaster resulted from "failure in judgment of the man."

But State Senator Dan Dimick said blame rested "solely on the shoulders of the interstate commerce commission for not enforcing its regulations."

Rutherford testified that he had assumed the truck was being watched by company police.

Sudden Blaze Ends Cruise Of Odd Tank

MONTREAL (CP) — A crew member of the ill-fated water tank in which three men tried to sail the Atlantic described here how the voyage ended in a blaze of kerosene.

Albert Barth, 31, a diesel mechanic, said the fire broke out while skipper Richard Mellisch was making coffee early in the morning. The fire put an end to the nine-day cruise of the ponderous craft, named Diogenes.

"But it was great fun while it lasted," Barth said. "We were seasick for a couple of days but after that we just fished and sang sea chanteys."

Mellisch ignited a paraffin tablet to brew his coffee on the morning of July 17. The tablet fell among cans of kerosene.

"We made it through the conning tower and up to the monkey deck in 10 seconds flat," Barth said.

Britons Ignoring Plaintive Quacks

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Wildfowl Trust Thursday reported sadly that people are losing interest in adopting ducks.

According to the trust's annual report, only 1,200 ducks found foster parents in 1958 compared to nearly 3,000 two years ago.

For five shillings—70 cents—anyone can adopt a duck, goose or swan. Although the scheme has been going for 11 years, no one ever has asked for a swan.

When Dotty Wiggles Whole Town Splits

MALDEN, Mass. (UPI) — A dancing blonde bombshell who works in an electronics factory by day and does "rhythm steps and wiggling" in her backyard by night has this city divided on opinion and half the neighborhood males peeking through knotholes.

Bilt 33-year-old Dotty Farangamo says she can't understand what all the fuss is about.

"My dancing isn't suggestive," she said. "I do some rhythm steps and wiggling, but nothing suggestive. I don't understand why they object."

SEA OF EYES
The "they" refers to some persons about the city—not to the neighborhood males. They think it's great. Dotty's backyard looks like a sea of eyes on these warm summer evenings when the comely mother of three peels off her work clothes and gets down to dancing in a bikini.

Police have received a number of complaints. But they are taking no steps to halt dancing Dotty.

"There's nothing more to be seen than can be seen on any beach," said one appreciative officer. "And if she wants to make like Irene Castle, well,

Divorce Is an Epidemic

VANCOUVER (CP)—Divorce, a contagious disease which has reached epidemic proportions in the United States, is undermining our free way of life, Judge R. A. Pfaff of the Los Angeles Superior Court said here Thursday.

There were more than 400,000 divorces in the U.S. last year, he told a section meeting of the Canadian Bar Association convention, and he said this is a "tragic social problem."

"If the home and the family unit are the bulwark of our civilization, then contagious divorce is more dangerous than the Communist conspiracy in undermining our free way of life," he said.

Undermining Civilization Judge Tells Bar Gathering

Judge Pfaff is presiding judge of the consolidated domestic relations and conciliation courts of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, the only place which has a semi-compulsory reconciliation court prior to divorce trials.

He said conciliation court services are more effective in areas where the grounds for divorce are limited, such as in Canada.

Dangling Fingers Make Tasty Morsel

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—Don Ethridge of Salem, Ore., approached an intersection in his car and thrust out his arm to indicate a stop.

A boxer dog bounded alongside, eyed Ethridge's dangling fingers, and bit him on the hand.

City Woman Marks Escape from Athenia

A Victoria woman yesterday celebrated the 20th anniversary of her escape from the liner Athenia after it was sunk by a German submarine only a few hours after the outbreak of the Second World War.

Mrs. H. T. Attfield, 7224 Dufferin, said yesterday, "It is a miracle I am alive."

Mrs. Attfield was returning from a visit to Europe with her daughters Grace, 17, and Leah, 15. When the ship was hit, they were preparing for Sunday evening shipboard services.

"GULF OPENED"
"My daughters were standing near the door when there was a shuddering crash and a gulf opened between us."

"Somehow we got out of the cabin. There was water everywhere and people fell in it as they scrambled to get up onto the decks."

In the confusion Mrs. Attfield lost Leah, but the family was tearfully reunited later aboard a rescue ship. Both girls are now married. Grace lives in Vancouver, and Leah in Spokane.

Most of the passengers were picked up early Monday morning, a few during the night. About 600 were taken to Scotland, about 400 to Ireland and the rest to Halifax.

CHURCHILL ACCUSED

The Athenia was scarcely below the surface when Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister, charged Winston Churchill with planning the ship's destruction to bring the United States into the war against Germany.

Later Capt. Fritz-Julius Lemp, skipper of U-boat 30 which sent the Athenia to the bottom, wrote about the incident.

He attributed his trigger-happiness to "over-excitement caused by the sudden declaration of war."

He was given the Iron Cross.

Hot-Rods Real Cause Of Young Divorces

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hot-rods and motorcycles are often the real co-respondents in divorces among young people, says Roger A. Pfaff, presiding judge of Los Angeles County's domestic relations and conciliation court.

Some married youths can't give up their old friends and interests for new responsibilities, he said. "People are marrying too young. We've got to have education in our schools on how to select a mate."

He Needs Cheering Up

Looking for words of cheer after being battered and nearly drowned in his mother's washing machine, Joseph Beaulac is cuddled by Nurse

Baby Escapes Death In Washing Machine

A 15-month-old Esquimalt baby narrowly escaped drowning in his mother's washing machine yesterday, winding up badly bruised about the head, face and ribs by the machine's agitator.

Joseph Beaulac, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Beaulac, 866 Craigflower, was watching his mother do the family wash in the basement. Nearby were his four-month-old twin sisters.

SHOCK, EXCITEMENT

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Beaulac was resting after the shock and excitement, and her mother, Mrs. L. G. Alexander of Colwood, told what had happened.

"My daughter went to one of the babies, who was crying," she said. "A moment later she turned back to the machine, and little Joey had vanished. She looked outside, didn't see him, and then looked into the machine."

"There he was, face down, being whipped back and forth by the agitator which was still going."

"She grabbed him out, and luckily the landlord, Philip Anderson, came along right then. He took the baby and applied artificial respiration, forcing water out of Joey's lungs."

TO HOSPITAL

A telephone call to Esquimalt police asked for an ambulance and respirator, so the Esquimalt patrol car and naval ambulance both attended. The latter took Joey to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was treated and X-rayed.

The X-rays showed no broken bones, but the child was admitted at once for observation.

Judges of Today Play Dual Role

VANCOUVER (CP)—The judge of today has a dual role of restraining abuses and facilitating good government, Lord Parker of Waddington, the lord chief justice of England, said Thursday night.

Derailment Blocks Line

NORTH BAY, Ont. (UPI)—The Canadian National Railway track near here was still blocked last night as a result of a derailment of a freight train earlier in the day.

Surrender, Says Widow

'Like a Mother to Her Son'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The widow of a night watchman who died during a safe-cracking appeal Thursday for the hunted men to give themselves up.

"If they are afraid of the police they could come to me and it would be like a mother talking to her son," said Mrs. Milja Alto, 63. Her husband, Vaino Alto, was found dead—bound and gagged and suffering a head wound—near a wrecked safe Wednesday at a storage company here.

An autopsy showed he became sick with the head wound and was suffocated.

Police, who first said the death was murder, issued another appeal Thursday for the safe-crackers to surrender for what they called the "accidental killing" of Alto. Det. Supt. Ben Jelley said the watchman's injuries, although fatal, indicated the safe-crackers didn't want to cause him serious harm.

Mrs. Alto said in a newspaper appeal to the men sought:

"I don't want a life for a life, but if you know religion,

India Prepares 'Peaceful' Bid To Oust Reds

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The Indian army Thursday night was reported preparing a bid for the "peaceful" reoccupation of a northeast frontier outpost seized by Chinese Communist soldiers late last month.

Indian troops were said to be moving to forward areas of the Northeast Frontier Agency, where the now-Chinese-held Longju outpost was set up by India in April.

REOCCUPY LONGJU

Informed sources said the Indian force was under orders to try to reoccupy Longju without the use of arms and to open fire only in self-defence.

The Assam Rifles militia detachment, driven from Longju by Communist gunfire has established a new forward post two days' march south of the lone one, and is in contact with the next nearest post of Limeking.

Reconnaissance of the area was reported being carried out in preparation for the move. The area is one of the most desolate on the Northeast Frontier.

PROTEST REJECTED

Meanwhile official sources said India has rejected a Peking government protest charging that Indian border guards trespassed on Chinese territory near Longju and opened fire on Chinese patrols.

Also, the sources said India would not raise the border problem in the United Nations. They were commenting on a reported statement by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld that the world organization would try to help settle the dispute if called on to do so.

CALCUTTA (CP)—The Indian army was called on to restore order Thursday after Communist mobs surged throughout the riot-ridden, strike-bound Calcutta area, attacking police stations and patrol squads with guns, bombs and knives.

Ten or more persons were killed, bringing the death toll this week to at least 19. More than 170 persons were injured, many of them policemen.

OTTAWA (CP)—Communist China's troublesome activities on the Indian frontier and its aggression in Tibet may have simplified Canada's position on admitting the country to the United Nations.

The UN General Assembly opens in New York Sept. 15. India announced a few weeks ago it would seek discussion of Red China's admission.

DELICATE PROBLEMS

This would pose some delicate problems in international relations for Canada.

The nefarious behavior of the Chinese Communists lately, however, might cause a change in India's decision. Should India decide not to press the matter of China's UN membership, Canada's problem would disappear.

New Algeria Policy Hinted In Warm Ike-de Gaulle Talk

PARIS (AP)—Presidents Eisenhower and de Gaulle Thursday night wound up two days of "very friendly" talks ranging from summit conference possibilities to the Algerian rebellion.

A communique on meeting of the American and French leaders was issued after President Eisenhower told his Western Allies that peace is assured if the West remains firm in principle, flexible in tactics and patriotically devoted to the North Atlantic alliance.

'BE NO WAR'

"Then there will be no war," Eisenhower said.

Although the communique said only that North Africa was discussed by the leaders, White House press secretary James Hagerty later disclosed they had taken up a new policy toward Algeria. Hagerty said de Gaulle is to disclose the policy after Eisenhower leaves France today for a Scottish holiday.

"It may be expected that Gen. de Gaulle will make a statement on this subject," Hagerty told reporters.

He would give no date and added "it would be inappropriate for us to make any comment until de Gaulle has made his statement."

Informed sources said the French president would make his announcement on the Algerian rebellion before the Sept. 15 opening of the UN General Assembly in New York.

These same sources indicated de Gaulle would outline a new approach.

QUESTIONS PARIED

Hagerty parried all questions concerning details.

Asked if the United States would have something to say after de Gaulle makes his public disclosure, Hagerty replied "Yes."

Eisenhower and de Gaulle agreed that a summit conference would be useful in principle, but said one should be held "only when there is some possibility of definite accomplishment."

Their communique said they were in complete agreement on the question of Berlin.

DISARMAMENT TALKS

It also said they reaffirmed the importance they attach to the resumption of negotiations on general and controlled disarmament and to the problem of assistance to underdeveloped areas.

Another subject discussed was de Gaulle's desire to give France a place equal to that of the United States and Britain in dealing with world strategy.

Diefenbaker Talks Bluntly to U.S.

CHICAGO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Thursday reminded United States businessmen that Canadians expect the business policies of U.S. subsidiaries to be based on Canadian considerations and to be in the best interests of the Canadian economy and people.

His outspoken reminder was given in an address to a joint luncheon meeting of the Chicago Rotary Club and Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

CANADA DAY

The prime minister is here for Canada Day at the Pan-American Games.

"Canadians welcome the investment of American dollars in industrial and resources development in Canada," he said, "but it must be underlined that Canadians ask that subsidiaries conduct themselves in the best interests of Canada first."

BEST INTEREST

Canadians expected that the business policy of every company operating in Canada, be it owned or controlled by Canadians or Americans or overseas, would be based on Canadian considerations and be in the best interest of the Canadian economy and people, he said.

In an airport interview he reiterated Canadian opposition to Chicago's plan to divert additional water from Lake

Michigan into its sewage system.

The U.S. Senate reversed itself Wednesday and held up passage of the Chicago Diversion Bill for consideration by its foreign relations committee.

He said it isn't necessary that Canadian subsidiaries confine their operations to the Canadian market alone, and deliberately leave the world export markets free to their parent organizations.

OFFER STOCK

American subsidiaries operating in Canada "would do well to give careful consideration to offering Canadians the opportunity to participate in the equity growth of their community by selling a reasonable proportion of their common stock through the Canadian market."

As an example of the "Canadian considerations" on which management decisions should be based he mentioned that "if the degree of processing of Canadian materials before export can be increased, this should be done."

Arrests Today?

Police Recover Stolen Vaccine

MONTREAL (CP)—Police, acting on an anonymous telephone call, Thursday recovered the $50,000 worth of anti-polio Salk vaccine stolen by three hooded men Monday night from a University of Montreal laboratory.

The vaccine was found in an unfurnished apartment.

There were no immediate arrests but police said arrests are expected by today.

ICE IN SINK

Half the stolen vaccine—10,000 vials in all—was found in a refrigerator. The rest was found in cartons, different from those in which the vials were packed when stolen.

There had been clumsy attempts to keep the vaccine cool. Two blocks of ice were found melting in a sink. The refrigerator, contained, besides some vaccine, a dozen bottles of beer.

BEING TESTED

The vaccine has been returned to the institute and is to be tested to see if it has deteriorated.

There was some speculation that the thieves had found the vaccine too "hot" to sell on the international black market.

Anti-Rackets Labor Bill Passes Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Thursday night passed a compromise bill aimed at ending racketeering in labor unions. The vote was 95 to 2.

The compromise was sent to the House of Representatives which plans to act on it today. President Eisenhower is considered certain to sign the bill—the first major labor legislation in 12 years.

Its main provisions seek to safeguard the rights of union members, and protect union treasuries from misuse by unscrupulous labor leaders.

Arms Ban Talks On Again?

LONDON (AP)—The Big Four were reported Thursday night near full agreement on reviving negotiations to halt the East-West arms race.

Diplomats said an accord is emerging that will create a new 10-power disarmament conference to consist of five allied powers and five Communist members. Canada will be included.

'Surprising Response'

Last of PGE Bonds May Go This Week

VANCOUVER (CP)—The government-guaranteed Pacific Great Eastern Railway $10,000,000 bond issue may be oversubscribed by the end of the week, it was reported in investment circles here Thursday.

"The sale has been going extremely well," said A. G. Osborne, chairman of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

"There has been a surprising response, especially from small investors," he said.

Mr. Osborne estimated that orders now in total between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000, but, he said, they have not all been processed through to Victoria.

The five-per-cent bonds went on sale Tuesday. The demand has not been too heavy in Vancouver, but from other cities and rural areas many orders have been placed. Mr. Osborne said the biggest demand has come from Vancouver Island, the Okanagan and from up-country.

"Many orders have come from places along the PGE." Individual sales have averaged between $1,500 and $2,000.

Substantial sales have been reported from small interior centres.

DUNCAN — A company was formed here yesterday by former Canadian Broadcasting Corporation employees to start a radio with a 250-watt transmitter.

Verne Brooks, 28, who will be the manager of the station and managing director of the Brooks Broadcasting Company, said their company lawyer will oppose a CKDA application for a satellite station in the area.

Their opposition will be made next week at Ottawa before the board of broadcast governors with Mr. Brooks making a personal presentation when the board sits at Vancouver next month.

He said the company will also apply for an affiliation with the CBC Trans Canada network.

LETTERS CHAN

The station, with call letters CHAN, may be on the air Jan. 1 of next year, he said, with a minimum of 11 employees.

Production manager will be Grenfield Marsh, now a producer for CBC at Winnipeg; chief engineer, Stanley Ewart, now a corporation engineer on the prairies, and Jack Cooper, sales manager, a former announcer.

Mr. Brooks was head announcer at Regina until he came here in April to manage a branch of CHUB radio station at Nanaimo.

The Nanaimo station announced plans to close their local office here yesterday.

First Aid Men on Seiners Urged by Drowning Probe

CAMPBELL RIVER — A coroner's jury inquiring into the death of a seiner skipper in waters off Campbell River yesterday recommended that all seiners be compelled to carry a first aid attendant.

The jury under Coroner P. E. Lewis found skipper John Michika, 54, of Vancouver, died by accidental drowning after he pitched over the side of the seiner, Beechy Head, when it struck a log just as he left the wheelhouse to go below.

He was pronounced dead at Campbell River General Hospital after long continued efforts by crew members, RCMP, a resuscitator crew and a doctor to revive him.

Other members of the six-man crew, all from Vancouver, said the seiner hit a 30-foot log jolting the skipper into the sea shortly after the vessel left Quathilaski Cove, across Discovery Passage from Campbell River, early yesterday.

They said the seiner swung around to where Michika was struggling in the water and crying for help. A line was thrown to him and he appeared to be swimming quite strongly. He was able to grasp a pike pole, crew members said, but suddenly "doubled up" just as he was being brought aboard. Respiration was immediately started by the crew as the seiner raced for Campbell River, but the accident victim failed to revive.

Holgar-Nielson and mouth-to-mouth respiration carried out by RCMP Constable Daniel Creeley when the seiner reached Campbell River and efforts by the Campbell River fire department resuscitator crew and Dr. John Graham on the way to hospital also proved unavailing.

The inquest jury recommendation also included a rider urging that at least one crew member of such vessels should be expert in artificial respiration.

The drowning victim is survived by sons Anton and Jerry and a daughter, Mrs. Zorka Reid, all of Vancouver. Funeral is in charge of Bells' funeral home with services in Our Lady of Sorrows Church.

Others who will be in attendance at the meeting include Mrs. A. G. Mercer, Women's Work chairman; Mrs. A. Russell, organizing field secretary Junior Red Cross, and Mrs. R. C. J. de Saige, chairman of home nursing and loan cupboards.

Dirk-Cut Cake Marks 100 Scottish Years

With skirling pipes and swinging kilts more than 100 Scots lads and lassies gathered last night at Holyrood House to eat a dinner of haggis, neeps, tattlers and Brussels sprouts.

The occasion was the 100th anniversary of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society in Victoria, fittingly observed by society president Charles Cameron, who used a dirk to cut the birthday cake.

Mayor Percy Scurrell brought official greetings from the city of Victoria. He was accompanied by Mrs. Scurrell.

To 70-year-old James Henderson (society president 1921-22) went the honor of recounting its history.

The society was originally formed in 1859 as the St. Andrew's Society, and by 1863 membership had grown to more than 100, including some of the most prominent and respected people in Victoria.

Governor Sir James Douglas was the honorary president, and posts of honorary vice-president were filled by Chief Justice Cameron and Chief Justice Begbie.

The society's objects were to give aid to needy countrymen and advice and assistance to newcomers. These aims remained unchanged when the society joined with the Caledonian Benevolent Association in 1870.

The new society was named St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society.

The next two decades saw vigorous growth and acquisition by the society of property which became known as the Cook Street grounds, home of the Caledonian Games.

During the early years meetings were held in such places as the courthouse and on occasion in the police barracks.

But members never gave up their dream of owning their own hall.

The dream came true in November, 1957, when Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross, present honorary president of the society, officially opened Holyrood House.

"In closing," said Mr. Henderson, "I quote the words spoken by our honorary president, Mr. Ross on that happy occasion:

"Tradition is the greatest thing we have outside our religion. All over the world you will meet Scots, representatives of your race and mine. We can say with all honesty that Scotland's greatest contribution has been her brains and her brawn."

Following the dinner, new officers for the coming year were installed.

They are: Charles Cameron, president; Thomas Hamilton and Mrs. J. Inglis, vice-presidents; Mrs. G. McKay, secretary; Mrs. M. Blades, financial secretary; Mrs. G. Dakers, treasurer; Jack Drom, warden; G. Gunnis, inner guard; S. Kennedy, outer guard.

The program was rounded out with Scottish songs by John Dunbar, dances by Lynn Williams and Arlene Atkinson.

IWA Decision On Proposals May Be Slow

A week or two may pass before British Columbia knows whether striking coast woodworkers will be ready to go back to work on the terms proposed by mediator Dr. John J. Deutch.

Policy committee of the district council of the International Woodworkers of America will meet in Vancouver today to consider the mediator's report, proposing a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour this year and 10 cents an hour next year, and an additional increase of 10 cents an hour for all journeymen tradesmen.

MEMBERSHIP VOTE

The Deutch proposals, with the policy committee's recommendations, then will be submitted to the 26,660 members for a vote. But arranging for balloting throughout the big district, with some locals in remote places, will take time.

Joe Morris, district president, denied last night that he had said it would take 10 days. He said he didn't know how long it would take, but it would depend on the policy committee recommendations and "the availability of our people."

NO COMMENT

Meanwhile, he wouldn't comment on the Deutch proposals.

Operators' spokesman John Billings said the Deutch report will be studied by member firms of Forest Industrial Relations, but he had "no idea" how long it would take. He said he had no further comment on the report at present.

Symphony Disavows New Bowl

Victoria Symphony Society has no plans to build an outdoor concert bowl, but would be willing to support a community drive to establish one, society president, Jack Barraclough, said last night.

"We never did, as a society, consider building a bowl," he said. "We are not in that type of business, but we are prepared to provide entertainment in a bowl if it is built."

Duncan Horticultural Feat

100 Blooming Mums 'Thought Impossible'

DUNCAN—Clare Brynjolfson has 100 chrysanthemums blooming at his home at 1006 Vista, a feat that has been thought "impossible."

Oldtime residents have always said they bloom too late here, at the end of September or October. They are speedily killed by frost.

The secret to make them bloom early, says Mr. Brynjolfson, is to give the plants a taste of what horticulturalists call "disbudding."

Early in the spring when the cutting has grown six inches high, the stem is pinched off so it starts growing two stems, when buds first appear all leaves around them are snipped off leaving the crown bud.

"By doing it at the right time they can be made to bloom early, as much as a month ahead," he said.

And to make sure the blooms are not discolored by morning dew and bright sun rays, he covers them at times with waterproof bags he imports from England.

Juvenile Home Quiet

Everything has been "going beautifully" at Greater Victoria's juvenile detention home since it reopened two months ago, Ald. Lily Wilson said yesterday.

But, Mrs. Wilson said, the Coldharbour Road home still needs segregation facilities, to separate older, hoodlum types from other children held at the home.

"As it happens, there haven't been any terribly unruly characters at the home since it reopened as far as I know," Ald. Wilson, chairman of the home committee, said. "But segregation is needed. It will just have to come."

The committee is preparing a submission on requirements for the Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee, and Ald. Wilson said a new home "may be necessary, but at this time I don't think it is. What is really necessary is a unified Greater Victoria juvenile court, and then I think the present home, with segregation, would be adequate for the time being."

SUBJECT OF CRITICISM

Lack of segregation and security facilities was subject of criticism by former superintendent Col. W. S. Dingley before he and his wife quit the job of running the home last spring.

The home committee reported in the spring that majority of juveniles brought to the home were of a "very unruly nature, destructive, and have no respect for others, furniture, or anything else."

But since the home reopened two months ago, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Ball in charge, the situation has been quiet, Ald. Wilson said.

Wasp, Where Is Thy Sting?

Uses Lethal Gas Gun

Ace Wasp Killer Gets 'Em on Wing

Anybody who thinks the aerial dogfight passed into the limbo of history with the Korean War hasn't talked to "ace" Victoria exterminator Bill Gair.

He shoots wasps on the wing, but instead of a .50 calibre Browning machine gun he uses a gun which squirts a lethal gas.

So far this year he has shot down around 15,000 wasps and has only been "wounded" himself twice.

Several times this season he has been outnumbered 100 to one, but only once were the odds so high he considered running instead of shooting.

Mr. Gair has been a professional exterminator for 16 years and, like the mercenaries of old, he harbors a professional hatred for the enemy.

"Wasps sting worse than bees," he says, "but the hornet stings worst of all."

MORE HORNETS

This year there are more hornets in the Victoria area than Mr. Gair has ever seen before, and the wasp population is as heavy as last year.

Several Victorians, notably children stung around the face, have been hospitalized with stings this year.

The exterminator says the best time to attack a hornets' or wasps' nest is at night when the occupants are relatively inactive.

Recently he went to inspect a nest in the daytime, however, and a clutch (or should it be a covey) of wasps zeroed in on him in spite of some fancy evasive tactics.

"Only one stung me, I squashed the other two against my head with my hand."

Asked if there was some secret way of squashing them in this manner, he laughed and said, "Oh, no, I was just lucky."

RAW ONION

When he does get stung he prefers to press a piece of raw onion against the wound.

"It kills the poison," he explains.

His strangest case of wasp-killing came after a call from an Esquimalt home where a swarm of wasps had suddenly taken up residence in the master bedroom.

Owners of the house couldn't go to bed so he rushed out and managed to kill the invaders with his gas gun in broad daylight.

THREE WEEKS

The wasp and hornet season should be over in Victoria in about three weeks, Mr. Gair said, unless warmer weather returns.

Male workers die off and the queen wasps go into a state of hibernation.

But nests which are not "de-activated" this year will be back in action next year.

A runway improvement project and a southwest wind combined to make a shambles of Trans-Canada Air Lines Victoria-Mainland schedules here yesterday.

Only emergency use of four-engine Transcontinental aircraft permitted the airline to clear passenger congestion at Victoria International Airport.

Five twin-engine DC-3s were forced to return to Vancouver empty because of restricted choice of runway and a southwest wind made it unsafe to operate them with passengers on board.

All Victoria-Vancouver and Victoria-Seattle passengers were finally delivered to their destinations through use of four-engine North Stars and a Super Constellation, an airline spokesman said.

REPORTING POSITION

Seattle-bound passengers were flown to Vancouver and either turned over to United Air Lines or placed aboard TCA planes which made a pretense of flying their licensed Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run by flying from Vancouver to Victoria and reporting their position over the Victoria radio range before proceeding to Seattle without landing here.

Stage was set Monday for yesterday's air transport confusion when the Department of Transport closed a secondary runway so that an improvement project on the main runway could proceed past an intersection.

RUNWAY 0220

This forced aircraft to use Runway 0220 which runs from southwest to northeast.

Twin-engine DC-3s are not permitted to take off into the southwest on Runway 0220 because the margin of safety over Mt. Newton, Mt. Finlayson and Mt. Jeffery, is inadequate in case of the failure of one engine.

He explained that the figures were prepared by the B.C. Forest Service and two logging companies "with the view of preparing a bid."

No date was set for the meeting.

$1,000,000 Woods Plan Cowichan Rally Topic

NORTH COWICHAN — A special meeting is to be called next month of interested persons to discuss Reeve C. A. P. Murison's plans for starting a 900-acre forest reserve.

It was council's first action on the reeve's plan that took four years to prepare and which shows the public could gain $1,000,000 in the next 100 years.

Move to hold the special meeting came after Coun. Donald Morton commented that the money to be made "isn't a very great amount."

The timber is on Mount Prevost, Mount Sicker and Maple Mountain.

Reeve Murison said "if anything" his estimate of money to be made was on the "conservative side."

He explained that the figures were prepared by the B.C. Forest Service and two logging companies "with the view of preparing a bid."

PARKSVILLE — Two new buffer speed zones have been set up in Parksville following the establishment of the 60-mile speed limit outside the village.

The 30-mile speed zone has now been moved in closer to the business section on the Alberni highway and the Island highway to the north and a buffer zone of 40 miles per hour has been set between the 30-mile zone and the 60-mile-per-hour zone.

On the Alberni highway a 50-mile-per-hour area has been set for about a mile between the 40-mile zone and the 60-mile zone. The speed limits were changed at the south entrance to Parksville several weeks ago.

NORTH COWICHAN—Reeve C. A. Murison and treasurer A. Vandecasteyen were given authority yesterday by council to buy "up to $50,000" in short term government bonds with surplus funds.

The reeve explained most of the money would be coming from what is left over from the $500,000 special road program bylaw and reserve funds.

He said investment houses have quoted 5.99 per cent interest rates with the bonds maturing next April 1.

PARKSVILLE—Changes in Parksville school staffs have been announced by the school board of Qualicum school district No. 69. Patrick Floyd of MacBride, B.C., has been engaged for Parksville Junior High School to replace Norman Robinson who has accepted a post as principal at Clinton, B.C.

Mrs. Eleanor Yates, home economics teacher, has been granted a year's leave of absence and will be succeeded by Mrs. Lauren Hargreaves of Vancouver and David Williamson of Alberni will take over the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. C. H. Foster at Parksville High School.

NORTH COWICHAN — Newly instituted angle parking on Chemainus' main street may be changed soon.

Council is checking with the Crofton-Chemainus Chamber of Commerce for their views on present parking problems in front of the MacMillan and Blodell mill.

Coun. Donald Morton reported receiving complaints of poor parking conditions on Chemainus Road, the busiest in the municipality.

Rebels Mount Attack

SAM NEUA, Laos (AP)—Communist rebels were reported massing 27 miles north of here Thursday, and this royal army headquarters for Northern Laos prepared grimly for a last-ditch defence.

PROBING LINES

Communist advance units "are probing our lines only 18 miles away," said Brig-Gen. Amkha Soukhavang.

"They will attack within 10 days at the most."

The general said the Laos rebels and regulars from Communist North Viet Nam were gathering in the jungle-clad mountains.

Defence Secretary Phoumi Nosavan said, "It's classic warfare, not guerrilla tactics. We intend to hold Sam Neua at all costs."

Derailment Blocks Line

NORTH BAY, Ont. (UPI)—The Canadian National Railways track near here was still blocked last night as a result of a derailment of a freight train earlier in the day.

Surrender, Says Widow

'Like a Mother to Her Son'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The widow of a night watchman who died during a safe-cracking appealed Thursday for the hunted men to give themselves up.

"If they are afraid of the police they could come to me and it would be like a mother talking to her son," said Mrs. Milja Alto, 63. Her husband, Vaino Alto, was found dead—bound and gagged and suffering a head wound—near a wrecked safe Wednesday at a storage company here.

An autopsy showed he became sick with the head wound and was suffocated.

Police, who first said the death was murder, issued another appeal Thursday for the safe-crackers to surrender for what they called the "accidental killing" of Alto. Det. Supt. Ben Jelley said the watchman's injuries, although fatal, indicated the safe-crackers didn't want to cause him serious harm.

Mrs. Alto said in a newspaper appeal to the men sought:

"I don't want a life for a life, but if you know religion,

India Prepares 'Peaceful' Bid To Oust Reds

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The Indian army Thursday night was reported preparing a bid for the "peaceful" reoccupation of a northeast frontier outpost seized by Chinese Communist soldiers late last month.

Indian troops were said to be moving to forward areas of the Northeast Frontier Agency, where the now-Chinese-held Longju outpost was set up by India in April.

REOCCUPY LONGJU

Informed sources said the Indian force was under orders to try to reoccupy Longju without the use of arms and to open fire only in self-defence.

The Assam Rifles militia detachment, driven from Longju by Communist gunfire, has established a new forward post two days' march south of the lost one, and is in contact with the next nearest post of Limestone.

Reconnaissance of the area was reported being carried out in preparation for the move. The area is one of the most desolate on the Northeast Frontier.

PROTEST REJECTED

Meanwhile official sources said India has rejected a Peking government protest charging that Indian border guards trespassed on Chinese territory near Longju and opened fire on Chinese patrols.

Also, the sources said India would not raise the border problem in the United Nations.

CALCUTTA (CP)—The Indian army was called on to restore order Thursday after Communist mobs surged throughout the riot-ridden, strike-bound Calcutta area, attacking police stations and patrol squads with guns, bombs and knives.

Ten or more persons were killed, bringing the death toll this week to at least 19. More than 170 persons were injured, many of them policemen.

OTTAWA (CP)—Communist China's troublesome activities on the Indian frontier and its aggression in Tibet may have simplified Canada's position on admitting the country to the United Nations.

The UN General Assembly opens in New York Sept. 15. India announced a few weeks ago it would seek discussion of Red China's admission.

DELICATE PROBLEMS

This would pose some delicate problems in international relations for Canada.

The nefarious behavior of the Chinese Communists lately, however, might cause a change in India's decision. Should India decide not to press the matter of China's UN membership, Canada's problem would disappear.

New Algeria Policy Hinted In Warm Ike-de Gaulle Talk

PARIS (AP)—Presidents Eisenhower and de Gaulle Thursday night wound up two days of "very friendly" talks ranging from summit conference possibilities to the Algerian rebellion.

A communique on meeting of the American and French leaders was issued after President Eisenhower told his Western Allies that peace is assured if the West remains firm in principle, flexible in tactics and patriotically devoted to the North Atlantic alliance.

'BE NO WAR'

"Then there will be no war," Eisenhower said.

Although the communique said only that North Africa was discussed by the leaders, White House press secretary James Hagerty later disclosed they had taken up a new policy toward Algeria. Hagerty said de Gaulle is to disclose the policy after Eisenhower leaves France today for a Scottish holiday.

"It may be expected that Gen. de Gaulle will make a statement on this subject," Hagerty told reporters.

He would give no date and added "it would be inappropriate for us to make any comment until de Gaulle has made his statement."

Informed sources said the French president would make his announcement on the Algerian rebellion before the Sept. 15 opening of the UN General Assembly in New York.

These same sources indicated de Gaulle would outline a new approach.

QUESTIONS PARRIED

Hagerty parried all questions concerning details.

Asked if the United States would have something to say after de Gaulle makes his public disclosure, Hagerty replied "Yes."

Eisenhower and de Gaulle agreed that a summit conference would be useful in principle, but said one should be held "only when there is some possibility of definite accomplishment."

Their communique said they were in complete agreement on the question of Berlin.

DISARMAMENT TALKS

It also said they reaffirmed the importance they attach to the resumption of negotiations on general and controlled disarmament and to the problem of assistance to underdeveloped areas.

Another subject discussed was de Gaulle's desire to give France a place equal to that of the United States and Britain in dealing with world strategy.

Diefenbaker Talks Bluntly to U.S.

CHICAGO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Thursday reminded United States businessmen that Canadians expect the business policies of U.S. subsidiaries to be based on Canadian considerations and to be in the best interests of the Canadian economy and people.

His outspoken reminder was given in an address to a joint luncheon meeting of the Chicago Rotary Club and Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

CANADA DAY

The prime minister is here for Canada Day at the Pan-American Games.

"Canadians welcome the investment of American dollars in industrial and resource development in Canada," he said, "but it must be understood that Canadians ask that subsidiaries conduct themselves in the best interests of Canada first."

BEST INTEREST

Canadians expected that the business policy of every company operating in Canada, be it owned or controlled by Canadians or Americans or overseas, would be based on Canadian considerations and be in the best interest of the Canadian economy and people, he said.

In an airport interview he reiterated Canadian opposition to Chicago's plan to divert additional water from Lake

Michigan into its sewage system.

The U.S. Senate reversed itself Wednesday and held up passage of the Chicago Diversion Bill for consideration by its foreign relations committee.

He said it isn't necessary that Canadian subsidiaries confine their operations to the Canadian market alone, and deliberately leave the world export markets free to their parent organizations.

OFFER STOCK

American subsidiaries operating in Canada "would do well to give careful consideration to offering Canadians the opportunity to participate in the equity growth of their community by selling a reasonable proportion of their common stock through the Canadian market."

As an example of the "Canadian considerations" on which management decisions should be based he mentioned that "if the degree of processing of Canadian materials before export can be increased, this should be done."

Police Recover Stolen Vaccine

MONTREAL (CP)—Police, acting on an anonymous telephone call, Thursday recovered the $50,000 worth of anti-polio Salk vaccine stolen by three hooded men Monday night from a University of Montreal laboratory.

The vaccine was found in an unrefrigerated apartment.

There were no immediate arrests but police said arrests are expected by today.

ICE IN SINK

Half the stolen vaccine—10,000 vials in all—was found in a refrigerator. The rest was found in cartons, different from those in which the vials were packed when stolen.

There had been clumsy attempts to keep the vaccine cool. Two blocks of ice were found melting in a sink. The refrigerator contained, besides some vaccine, a dozen bottles of beer.

BEING TESTED

The vaccine has been returned to the institute and is to be tested to see if it has deteriorated.

There was some speculation that the thieves had found the vaccine too "hot" to sell on the international black market.

Anti-Rackets Labor Bill Passes Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Thursday night passed a compromise bill aimed at ending racketeering in labor unions. The vote was 95 to 2.

The compromise was sent to the House of Representatives which plans to act on it today. President Eisenhower is considered certain to sign the bill—the first major labor legislation in 12 years.

Its main provisions seek to safeguard the rights of union members and protect union treasuries from misuse by unscrupulous labor leaders.

Arms Ban Talks On Again?

LONDON (AP)—The Big Four were reported Thursday night near full agreement on reviving negotiations to halt the East-West arms race.

Diplomats said an accord is emerging that will create a new 10-power disarmament conference to consist of five Allied powers and five Communist members. Canada will be included.

'Surprising Response'

Last of PGE Bonds May Go This Week

VANCOUVER (CP)—The government-guaranteed Pacific Great Eastern Railway $10,000,000 bond issue may be oversubscribed by the end of the week it was reported in investment circles here Thursday.

"The sale has been going extremely well," said A. G. Osborne, chairman of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

"There has been a surprising response, especially from small investors," he said.

Mr. Osborne estimated that orders now in total between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000, but he said, they have not all been processed through to Victoria.

The five-per-cent bonds went on sale Tuesday. The demand has not been too heavy in Vancouver, but from other cities and rural areas many orders have been placed.

Mr. Osborne said the biggest demand has come from Vancouver Island, the Okanagan and from up-country.

"Many orders have come from places along the PGE." Individual sales have averaged between $1,500 and $2,000.

Substantial sales have been reported from small interior centres.
